Queen Dignified, Unruffled After Lengthy Reception

Alighting from the royal tour limousine yesterday in eastern Canada, Queen Elizabeth had good reason to nurse her right hand—she had just shaken hands with some 600 dignitaries. The ramrod-straight Mountie efficiently mastered the problem of opening a car door and saluting at the same time. See stories on Page 5.

Queen Concerned

35 Fishermen Dead, Missing

ESCUINAC, N.B. (CP)—Thirty-five fishermen Monday night were listed officially as dead or missing in the Northumberland Strait fishing fleet disaster.

As the search for bodies continued and reports trickled in from isolated coves and hamlets, the possibility remained that the final toll might be even higher.

RCMP said 11 bodies have been found. Two other men are listed as known dead on the basis of reports from survivors who saw them washed overboard from their tiny salmon fishing boats in a boiling sea early Saturday.

Twenty-two men are listed as missing and presumed drowned.

The Queen has asked that she be kept informed about the tragedy.

Lord Beaverbrook has announced that he will donate $5,000 to start a disaster fund.

The most devastating gale to hit the New Brunswick coast in years also wiped out about one-third of the Miramichi area salmon fleet, a heavy blow to the district's economy.

About 45 of the licensed boats in the Escuminac area were at sea when the gale struck. Twenty-two of them disappeared in the storm. Four of these finally made port, battered and leaking. Police said the other 18 are derelict. Some were wrecked on the shore. Others are sunken in shallow water.

Convicts Grab Six Hostages

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP)—Convicts rioted at the federal prison system's medical centre in Springfield Monday night, grabbing six hostages and taking control of one wing of the hospital where Al Capone once was a prisoner. They said they would present demands today.

Did IRA Start Fire To Protest Tour?

TORONTO (UPI)—The Metropolitan Toronto police department is investigating a report that the Irish Republican Army set fire to a reviewing stand under construction in front of the city hall where the Queen is to speak June 29.

An anonymous phone caller said the fire was an IRA protest against the Queen's visit.

Tour Trouble

No Invitations For Oak Bay?

Vanguard Peters Out

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A weather-probing "sunshine satellite" apparently burned up the earth's atmosphere Monday when the second stage of the Vanguard launching vehicle failed to function properly.

It was the eighth failure in 10 tries for the trouble-plagued Vanguard satellite program. One Vanguard rocket remains to be fired.

Victoria aldermen are getting so many invitations to royal tour events they "don't know how they will attend them all," an Oak Bay councillor stated last night, but Oak Bay councillors have received none.

Coun. Allan Cox told Oak Bay council that Victoria aldermen and even some Esquimalt councillors have already received invitations to functions at which the Queen will be present.

Coun. Gordon Elworthy quipped "the only invitations we've received are invitations to pay more money."

He was referring to an earlier request that Oak Bay put up part of the cost of extending the Beacon Hill Park bandstand for royal tour events.

Reeve George Murdoch said he believed some invitations required officials to be in two places at once, but added he was not aware that invitations had gone out to Victoria city council members yet.

$1,000,000 A DAY COST OF STRIKE

Porchlight Drive In City Tonight

Volunteer canvassers will call between 6:30 and 7:30 this evening at homes throughout the city on behalf of Victoria Senior Citizens Housing Society.

Target of $50,000 has been set for the porchlight drive and all proceeds will be used to complete a 26-unit apartment block for the aged on Styles Street and start construction of a second and similar project.

LABOR MINISTER WICKS
... solemn warning

If IWA Quits Work

A woodworkers' strike would result in a loss of well over $1,000,000 a day in B.C., Labor Minister Lyle Wicks said yesterday.

Everyone would feel the effects, he said, from the big buyer who places million-dollar contracts to the man who sells a necktie.

TOTAL COST IGNORED

"It is time that more people begin considering their own interests as they are reflected by an upset in the entire economy of the province," said Mr. Wicks. "Too few people are prepared to reckon the total cost that their own actions may have."

The labor minister said it was too bad the 138 timber companies and the International Woodworkers of America could not get together.

HOW LOSS WORKS

The huge loss to the people of the province, he said, would be made up of direct payrolls, lost production, loss in revenue to the province and results of a paralyzing fear complex which a strike would engender in buyers and business generally.

Meanwhile, Joe Morris, regional president of the IWA, said the union's strike vote is running better than 95 per cent in favor of a strike.

PREDICTION WRONG

Last year a 90 per cent strike vote was predicted but the actual count showed only 65 per cent in favor.

The government-supervised strike vote will be taken Friday.

This would be when a strike date would be set if the union favors striking.

Unofficial result is expected to be known Friday night and the official government count is expected to be known Saturday.

Neither side is moving towards negotiation.

A majority conciliation board recommended seven cents an hour increase this year and five cents an hour next year on the basic rate of $1.72 an hour. The union asked for 34 cents an hour.

Some 26,600 woodworkers from the lower mainland, Fraser Valley to Hope, Vancouver Island and B.C. coast are involved with the timber companies.

Dr. Mahaffy Statement

Councillor Raps Doctor's Words

Dr. Elizabeth Mahaffy was sharply criticized last night at Esquimalt council meeting for referring to opponents of fluoridation as "publicity seekers, persons with commercial interests and the uninformed."

Coun. James Bryant said he was not disputing the opinion of Dr. Mahaffy as Victoria-Esquimalt medical health director that fluoridation was a necessary and desirable measure for dental health.

"But I do think it was wrong," he added, "for a person in her position—as a salaried municipal employee—to make such statements as she did about those who oppose fluoridation."

Coun. Bryant described his own feelings towards fluoridation as "neither one way nor the other." He said the people should have a chance to vote on fluoridation.

Herter Tells Ike

Fright Tactics Laid to Reds

WASHINGTON (AP)—State Secretary Herter was reported Monday to have told President Eisenhower that the foreign ministers' deadlock at Geneva has dimmed hopes of arranging a satisfactory summit meeting.

He was let out from there (William Head) and may have known these boys, but I don't believe for one minute he had anything to do with their getting out and coming here."

Herter is understood also to

Russia Will Wage War With Poison Gas, Germs

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet Union can be expected to strike with poison gases and germs if war comes, and the U.S. Congress was told yesterday.

Maj.-Gen. Marshall Stubbs, the army's chief chemical officer, said the Russians "are known to be intensively conducting research and development in chemical and biological warfare and... to have a number of chemical agent production plants."

have stressed that Premier Khrushchev appears to be trying to frighten the West into a summit parley rather than paving the way for reasonable negotiations on Germany's future.

Herter and Eisenhower talked for an hour at the White House, one day after Herter's return from Geneva.

TV REPORT

Herter also arranged to give the American people a television-radio report Tuesday night.

Aides said Herter would emphasize the West's determination to avoid further concessions to the Russians lest it jeopardize the freedom of the West Berliners.

To mobilize Congressional support for his attitude, Herter also agreed to give a confidential summary of the Geneva talks to the Senate foreign relations committee and the House of Representatives foreign affairs committee today.

REAFFIRMED

Eisenhower and his foreign policy chief were understood to have reaffirmed during their talk that they would oppose any top-level summit parley unless the Soviet Union negotiates reasonably at Geneva when talks resume.

They have been suspended to July 13.

JIM BISHOP: REPORTER

There is enormous public interest in a baby-faced personality known as Jack Paar. No matter where I travel, big city or small town, people ask about him. Apparently no one knows that I have written nine books and 30 years of newspaper stories. People point at me and say: "We saw you on the Paar show. What's he like?"

On a train, it's the Pullman conductor. On a story, it's a lawyer. At Tallahassee, it was a whole group of big burly state highway police and deputy sheriffs. "Tell that guy he's great. He keeps us all night."

Sooner or later, most people ask: "What's he like? Really? What he's like, really, is us."

Wife Is His Manager

Mr. P's office is on one side of the house. His attractive and brown-haired wife is his business manager and has an office on the other side of the house. A housekeeper makes steak and eggs for his breakfast.

Jack is basically shy. He wants to be recognized. He is not an entertainer. He cannot sing well, do a dance or play the piano. He is a catalyst for entertainers and, ironically, he is the envy of the stars he invites to his program. When he takes a week off, the show sounds like amateur night. The same faces are present: the same repartee; the same songs, but without Paar's little boy wonderment. In the presence of the stars, the show is nothing.

Trying to Stay There

In most fields, success comes in two stages—getting there and staying there. Mr. Paar is trying to make stage two. He needs people of talent around him to do it. His feet skid on the small stones of betrayal and he digs deeper to stay on top.

I was his fan long before I met him. The more I see of Jack, the better I like him. Like Jack Webb and Ed Sullivan, he must be his own producer and director because what he is selling is himself, and no one knows how to do that as well as Jack Paar.

Before the show, he usually broods and sulks. He sits alone in a small dressing room, making himself up out of a fancy briefcase, looking at jokes and

French Spurn Single Sheets

PARIS (Reuters)—French bedclothes makers have little to fear in competition from their European Common Market partners.

A review of the trade says the German, Italian, Belgian and Dutch industries are concentrating on turning out sheets for single beds. From experience, French manufacturers have found there is little demand for single bed sheets in France. Double beds are much more popular.

CBC Would Win Licence Fight

OTTAWA (CP)—The board of broadcast governors would give the CBC preference over a private organization in any fight over a licence to operate a new broadcasting station that would help Canada's national service, board chairman Andrew Stewart said yesterday.

In answer to questions, he said:

POWERS LIMITED

1. The board has no power to initiate an expansion of broadcasting facilities in Canada.

2. Not all of the board's recommendations on new licences have yet been approved by the cabinet.

3. The board had not yet decided on any change in policy in connection with duplication of television services in metropolitan areas.

ROCK-AND-ROLL

4. The board felt that the responsibility of so-called "rock-and-roll" radio stations in providing greater variety in their programs differed in different areas in Canada. The matter was not so urgent in metropolitan areas where the listener could choose from a selection of local stations.

Jet Airliner Damaged In Landing

NEW YORK (AP)—A British jet airliner with several Russians aboard was damaged Sunday when it crashed through a steel barrier while landing at Idlewild Airport. All were injured.

The British Overseas Airways Corporation Comet IV, arriving from London, carried 35 passengers, including eight Russians and a crew of 10. Its front wheel gear and landing flaps were badly damaged.

The plane's pilot, John A. Kelly, said he was making a routine landing when the plane suddenly dipped downward, apparently, because of air turbulence.

The big ship clipped the top of a 10-foot-high wind barrier at the head of the runway.

72 Ships Piled Up

Seaway Jam Worst Ever

WELLAND, Ont. (UPI)—The biggest tieup of ships since the St. Lawrence Seaway opened for traffic nearly two months ago piled up here last night as workers labored feverishly to repair lock breaks.

Officials feared it would take weeks to clear the traffic jam. A total of 72 ships, 47 at the Lake Ontario end and 25 at the Lake Erie entrance, had piled up.

Canal officials received instructions from the seaway authority to give bulk carriers priority passage. Under

African Women Tear-Gassed

DURBAN, South Africa (Reuters)—Renewed disturbances hit the Durban area Monday as police tear-gassed 200 women.

This system will be used again to prevent a shortage of raw materials to industries, such as the Steel Company of Canada at Hamilton, which is trying to stockpile for the winter.

ONE MILE DRAINED

The break occurred in the downbound part of Lock No. 4. Officials had to drain about one mile of the canal to fix a cracked wooden sill at the bottom of the lock.

Workmen succeeded in reopening the canal one-way traffic by closing special gates in lock No. 4 which permit the upbound lock channel to be refilled. The closed gate separates the two channels, enabling workmen to continue repairing the still-drained downbound lock while traffic goes through the upbound one.

ECONOMY with GAS

You pay only for the gas you use—after you use it. Installation costs are lower, and a gas furnace has a long life. You don't pay for storage bins or tanks, or tie up money in idle fuel.

AUTOMATIC heat with GAS

With an automatic-controlled thermostat the heat turns itself down at night, at whatever hour you wish. Then, at the time you want in the morning, the furnace starts warming your home before you get up.

CONVENIENCE with GAS

No furnace to tend morning and night, no ashes to haul, no delivery problem. You never have to think about calling and ordering more fuel—never have to worry that your supply of gas might run out.

FASTER heat with GAS

A flick of the finger—and gas responds instantly! Gas is ready to burn the instant it reaches your furnace. You get heat the moment you want it!

DEPENDABILITY with GAS

Regardless of the weather, your gas supply is steady, dependable. There are no bad weather delivery delays. Cold snaps don't catch you unprepared. Gas is right there, every day, every time you need it.

QUIET, CLEAN heat with GAS

Automatic gas is exceptionally quiet, important where the heating unit is on the same floor as your living quarters. And your home stays cleaner, has less dust and grime; requires less decorating.

Trade Field Narrows

AS the first half of the year nears its close, Canada's foreign trade picture can only be regarded as fair. Exports to the United States have been going up slowly and steadily in spite of the exchange ratio of the two currencies, but imports from there have been increasing at a faster rate with visible deterioration of Canada's trade balance. Latest figures compiled by the federal bureau of statistics for the first five months bear out this anticipated trend, but are more remarkable for another factor: this country's export trade with nations overseas has been falling sharply, with importations from the same markets rising at the same time.

While there has been no revolutionary change in the first portion of the year, some new trends are beginning to emerge. Canada is finding it more difficult to sell overseas than it has been before, with the beginning of a definite gap that is not being bridged by any corresponding take-up in sales on this continent. The British market for Canadian goods expanded at the first of the year, but is now contracting. With other European nations Canada is doing considerably less business than before, and markedly so in the volume of continental European imports from this country. Trade across the Pacific remains basically unchanged, excepting isolated orders for specific commodities which may not be repeated.

Although on a smaller scale, this development is duplicating a similar trend noticed south of the border, especially with regard to a European market which is proving more selective and regulatory. Canada is doing new business with the West Indies, and that has proved a welcome innovation. South American trade, however, has remained quiet in view of the adverse effect on Latin American countries of low world prices for many of their basic exports. In a number of instances a world condition of over-production and supply is holding back improvement in selling prices, while this in turn is affecting the economies of many lands.

In view of the circumstances, Canada's selling efforts cannot be relaxed, and may have to be stepped up in the second half of the year.

Small Niggling Minds

THE course of the Queen's tour across the country will indicate more truly than anything else the real reaction of Canadians to their royal visitor. There are always small niggling minds which cannot comprehend the significance of the Queen's visit or the courtesy that is due to a guest.

Because she is asserted to be a TV "star" the young lady who publicly voiced her "indifference" to the royal tour has drawn more attention than she warrants. Television personalities are wrongly credited with a maturity they often do not possess and given a prominence they do not deserve. Actually their opinions off their chosen beat may be quite worthless.

The lady in question may be uninterested in the Queen's visit. Obviously in a large country some citizens have more patriotic feelings than others; but this is a free country and individuals are at liberty to dissent from the majority view if they wish.

It is also routine that on any subject dissenters are more loudly vociferous than supporters.

This young TV person does not seem to have the wit to realize it, but her inexcusable fault was in citing her "indifference" over a foreign television network. No person worth his or her salt ever condemns his or her own country or its institutions when outside its boundaries. Anyone who does so is not behaving as a citizen. The offending TV "star" also implied that she was speaking for all other Canadians, a piece of arrogance or ignorance, or both, that indicates her juvenility.

Somewhat strangely a CCF MP from B.C., Mr. Frank Howard, has expressed a agreement with Miss Davidson's sentiments. He is equally free to show his lack of propriety in view of his membership in Parliament, but he also presumes to speak for the "average" Canadian. What Mr. Howard should do, of course, if he is opposed to the constitutional status of Canada, is to move a resolution in the House seeking to have Canada declared a republic.

One doubts he will have the courage to do that, however. It is much easier to make slighting or sneering remarks about a gracious young Queen who cannot answer back, but whose vindication is happily manifest as she receives the cheers and loyalty of Canadians on her present tour.

Children Need Exercise

PREMIER BENNETT'S advice on the subject of physical training for school children should command the attention of parents. Most children nowadays take far too little exercise voluntarily, and in spite of all the fine theories of the educationists, the physical training part of the school curriculum has many shortcomings. With all the advantages this part of the world enjoys, the muscular health of school children should be of the highest; yet surveys show average development to be far below that of the United Kingdom and European countries.

The main cause of this deficiency was identified by Premier Bennett when he said that in these days "everybody has transportation and cars." Going to and from school is made much too easy for most pupils, with the result that legs and lungs get far too little exercise. Mr. Bennett suggests that they should get up earlier in the morning and run a mile or half-mile, which is good advice but not entirely feasible. Children, like most adults, do not take that sort of exercise willingly.

A return to a course of good old "physical jerks" in school time would be more effective. Wartime soldiers recruited from civilian life mostly regarded morning PT with loathing, but it took off excessive weight, gave healthy appetites and developed even the puny ones into reasonably healthy specimens of manhood. Children need that sort of training, under compulsion, more than grown-ups, but get very little of it in the "scientific" instruction imparted nowadays. PT may be boring, and the idea seems to prevail that the modern child must never be bored; but youth is instinctively lazy physically and unless driven to organized exercise will take very little voluntarily.

Western Heads to Meet?

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MANY signs point to a "summit" conference—but not the one Premier Khrushchev has been demanding for so long.

The Western big three seemed to be edging toward a summit of their own even before the Geneva announcement that the East-West conference of foreign ministers is to be recessed in deadlock until July 13.

Prime Minister Macmillan had indicated he was ready for such talks and President Eisenhower spoke in similar vein. It is thought that President de Gaulle would welcome a chance to outline his views to his Anglo-American partners face to face.

It is not secret that the Western chiefs hold varying views about a future summit meeting with Khrushchev. Macmillan sees in this the best chance of easing world tensions; but Eisenhower refuses to go without some development at Geneva that would give hope of positive results.

The only apparent headway at Geneva has been made not at the foreign ministers' talks, but at separate, parallel negotiations about the control of nuclear tests. Eisenhower has implied that such progress might become acceptable as the basis of a future East-West meeting.

But France, which would be a party to a summit meeting with Russia, is not a nuclear power yet—although it wants to be—and, in fact, de Gaulle has been raising a rumpus in NATO on the question.

De Gaulle has refused to allow locating of nuclear warhead stockpiles on French territory unless France has a voice in their control. He has also withdrawn the French Mediterranean fleet from the forces formerly earmarked for NATO command in case of war, and taken other actions embarrassing to the NATO command.

Diplomats believe that these and other problems—not to mention political strategy to counter Russian moves—could best be tackled in a personal meeting among the Western leaders.

Eisenhower set the diplomatic ball bouncing in this direction at his latest press conference when he spoke about de Gaulle in terms that while far from clear-cut were obviously sympathetic.

IF a war started today it would be all over in seven hours, according to a new item I read recently.

This is the most cheerful news of the month.

It takes us back to the days when knights were bold and ladies were fair.

In those old-fashioned days, remember, they believed in getting things over quickly. No battle—and often enough a whole war was just one battle—lasted more than the daylight hours. The idea of jousting all night long was simply never entertained.

Protocol wouldn't allow it.

Unfortunately bad manners crept into the military scene along with gunpowder and such amenities, and there was no hours-of-work legislation to prevent wars developing into year-long conflicts.

It is comforting therefore to hear that the pendulum has swung back and we shall be proper chaps again.

After all this is the jet age, and we should be able to sandwich any old war in between breakfast and supper.

Such speed will be rather awkward for some persons, of course. Parliament won't be able to wait a week before declaring war, and it's doubtful if MPs can get up early enough for the kick-off. Those eastern members might be home for their favorite Thursday-to-Tuesday weekend, too.

And if the war is over before it is legally proclaimed where does that put the poor chap who wants to claim a pension for his service. He'll have an even tougher job than he has now.

Then again, how about the quartermasters. Unless they have a warning early morning signal they won't ever get the uniforms issued in time, which will be rough on the recruits. In fact there will be no use running to the Armoury at all if one is a young man, fit, energetic and patriotic, as I'm sure all young men are.

The cease fire will have sounded before the recruit has tried on his new boots.

Well, I suppose that won't really matter if everything is over in a mere seven hours. Probably the boots wouldn't fit anyway.

The presumption is of course that there will be at least a few hectic moments if another war does come. Doubtless that will be plenty but why be pessimistic? A seven-hour limit means escape for many folks.

Homo is a terribly smart fellow but he's not smart enough to blot out everything in seven hours.

So, that means the referee is going to blow his whistle before some parts of the globe know the game has started. However, there are times when ignorance is bliss and this will be one of them.

The only fly in the ointment, alas, is that wars never stick to the predicted route. They are wayward affairs, taking a delight in proving the prophets wrong.

But then this could mean it wouldn't take even seven hours. Maybe just three. Perhaps even while folks were out for their morning coffee.

The only thing left to do, I guess, will be to stay home and read all about it in the newspaper: the Colonist, naturally.

Well, one could do worse, you know. Certainly it would save an awful lot of bother, not to speak of lives.

Reports From Ottawa

SOME business men who exulted when the Conservatives came to power, expecting that the new government would be "soft" on combines, mergers and monopolies, have just found themselves the victims of their own wishful thinking.

Amendments to the anti-combines legislation now before Parliament do not legalize any of the business practices for which companies were prosecuted under the Liberal administration. Indeed, the Tory amendments create several new offences. And the major Conservative concession to big business' criticism of the combines laws turns out to be a sop, having no effect of easing the laws against curtailment of competition.

The Liberal government's philosophy had been that any combination of competing companies to lessen competition was harmful to the public interest, and therefore illegal. The Liberals did not accept the argument that a combine might operate in the public interest, or at least in a way not harmful to that interest.

In a sense the Conservative government is more reasonable. The amendments introduced by Justice Minister Fulton provide that competitors may co-operate to exchange statistics and credit information, to determine product standards and trade terms, to restrict advertising, and in research and development.

But while such co-operation has been technically illegal, it has not been on such grounds that companies have been prosecuted in the past. Invariably the offence has been price fixing, with or without added refinements such as restricting production or distribution or allocating markets. These actions are still outlawed under Tory legislation.

Protocol wouldn't allow it.

Unfortunately bad manners crept into the military scene along with gunpowder and such amenities, and there was no hours-of-work legislation to prevent wars developing into year-long conflicts.

In the restaurant lobby yesterday I saw a gentleman done up in the height of the new continental fashion. He was in his thirties, obviously prosperous, and eager to please everybody within sight and hearing.

"Voy-law!" he kept exclaiming, in the true continental spirit.

Yes, sir, a real boulevardier.

"Hey, Harry," he called to the head waiter at the door. "How's about a table for four, huh?"

"In two minutes," said the head waiter. "Voy-law!" cried the boulevardier, gallantly, to his lady companion, throwing in a continental gesture with both hands for good measure.

Of course, no one in the Atlantic countries imagines that such studies can be a substitute for action. They could, however, be a valuable preparation for wisely and effectively directed action, whether by private organizations or governments or by the Atlantic community as a whole.

The holding of the Atlantic congress has shown that the peoples of the Atlantic area are already very much aware of their responsibilities towards other parts of the world; and it has done much to heighten this awareness. Its peoples are prepared not only to defend themselves, but also to tackle what they consider to be the biggest constructive task of the next 10 years.

Common Ideals

The Atlantic Community

By ELISABETH BARKER,
from London

THE really noteworthy thing about the Atlantic Congress which has been meeting in London was that it was a conference not of allied governments but of allied peoples. It showed that the alliance of Atlantic nations which started 10 years ago as a defence organization is now growing into a community of peoples, sharing common ideals, policies, interests and activities.

This development, as the Congress also showed, is taking place in the sound and healthy way that is possible among democratic people. It is coming about not under orders from governments and their officials but through the initiative and hard work of individual citizens of the Atlantic countries who believe deeply that an Atlantic community is both natural and necessary.

The idea of holding the congress arose two years ago in a non-governmental body—the conference of members of the parliaments of NATO countries, founded in 1955 to foster the political and economic development of the Atlantic alliance. The preparatory work was carried out under the direction of members of parliament and other prominent people in all the fifteen NATO countries.

When the congress met, its 640 members came not as delegates of governments or parties but in a private capacity, speaking only for themselves. About one-third were members of parliaments, others were leaders in the fields of science and technology, education, culture, religion, labor, industry and finance.

They set out to consider from the experience of NATO's first ten years of growth, the ways in which the Atlantic community might develop over the next 10 years. They sought to map out the future course of relations between the NATO countries themselves; they concerned themselves even more with the relations of the Atlantic community as a whole with the rest of the world. They started from the conviction that the community has a positive role to play in the world; they were therefore especially interested in its future relationship with under-developed countries, particularly the newly independent nations of Asia and Africa.

Queen Elizabeth II in her speech opening the congress seemed to have this problem in mind. She spoke of the need to demonstrate to other members of the Commonwealth, and "to all our friends throughout the world," that the Atlantic community was "not an exclusive club" but belonged to that "wider brotherhood which comprises all men of good will."

Protection Island

A recent issue of "The Islander" contains a well written article eulogizing the many and varied attributes of a Mr. Frank Ney, who we learn operates a real estate business here in Nanaimo.

We were somewhat deeply impressed with this gentleman's accomplishments until we came across the alarming statement that he has "bought Protection Island" and proposes transforming it with a residential site with stores, playgrounds and what have you. We learn from the article that he has already outlined plans for 400 residential lots.

These plans of course entail the clearing of the timbered island that received its name more than a century ago from the protection it provided to one of the finest harbors on the coast.

Something over 20 years ago it was proposed by some company to denude this island and its near neighbor, Newcastle Island of some of their growth of timber, but public opinion prevailed against Nanaimo's harbor and waterfront being sacrificed for commercial purposes, and up to this time it has not been thus desecrated.

The eulogy above referred to is entitled, "He's Remaking Nanaimo." If the "remaking" includes the destruction of our safe harbor, and comparative spoliation of our waterfront it is (to say the very least) unjustifiable, and should not be allowed to proceed.

Sewers for Saanich

In this day and age, even so far advanced as to attempt to reach the other planets, a seemingly well-travelled gentleman down on Rockland Avenue tells us dumb clucks in Saanich how to build a septic tank, of all things.

Personally, if there were 16 chambers and two miles of weeping pipes (as he calls them) I would hesitate to use the water for a garden, if I had one.

The year 1910 was a good time and Winnipeg was a good place for them. Saanich, with its mild climate and hardpan, is definitely not suited for them.

Perhaps our friend would try his three-chambered tank and "weeping pipes" on Rockland Avenue. I say let's have less of this, and try and stay at least 30 years behind the times with 1959 sewers.

Mountie's Order Irks Newsmen

ARVIDA, Que. (UPI)—An apparently well-meaning but embarrassingly presented statement by a Royal Canadian Mounted Policeman that newsmen who wear open sports shirts will be taken out of the Queen's sight during her Canadian tour sparked an angry furor among some newsmen here Sunday night.

Staff Sergeant John Ouimet, acting as liaison officer accompanying British, Canadian and United States reporters and photographers during the Quebec section of the tour, drew a babble of shouts and bitter criticism from most British correspondents when he made the statement during a briefing on security plans.

Charm and Impact

Shaw Dancers Show Reasons for Success

By BERT BINNY

During the past season, dancers from the Wynne studio have been covering themselves with glory. Such as Louise Roberts, Sharon Kirk, Dianne Miller, Anna Marie Ellerbeck, Julie Banfield and Maureen Lawson have been accumulating trophies, scholarships and contracts in impressive style.

Last night, in the Shaw studio's revue, "Our Stars of Tomorrow," at the Royal Theatre, they clearly demonstrated the form that caused their successes.

OTHERS COMING

More than that, there was clear evidence that others are following closely in their footsteps. There was, for example, some excellent dancing by Sandra Begg, Mary Spilsbury, Gina Hiscock, Lovey Moloy, Barbara Anne Court and several others not identified.

But the revue did not rely completely on solo work for its charm and impact. Color and vitality was spread widely through the program—"Dancing Country Style," "Portuguese Peasant Dance," "The New Favorite" and "Moonlight and Sweet Music" were proof of this.

YOUNG ACROBATS

Maureen Lawson, Sharon Kirk and Judith Cameron proved themselves fine tap dancers and there were half a dozen youthful acrobats.

The revue also had a "mass" appeal—the finale of the opening number involved 114 performers.

Planists were Mrs. Helen Miller and George Eshioshi. Classical music was strongly in evidence and included Liszt, Chopin, Debussy and Bach.

"Our Stars of Tomorrow" was sponsored by the women's committee of the symphony society.

Queen Like Tourist On Happy Cruise

CHICOUTIMI, Que. (CP)—Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip Monday were welcomed here after a tourist-like cruise up the picturesque Saguenay River.

They stepped ashore from the royal yacht Britannia at Port Alford on beautiful Baie des Ha! Ha! and during a 4½-hour visit saw something of the area's industrial might and shook hands with hundreds of people.

STORM PASSED

Torrential rain started as they landed and the storm passed quickly, before their engagements.

The royal couple also toured the Aluminum Co. of Canada smelter at nearby Arvida, largest plant of its kind in the world. They also went through Jonquiere and Kenogami, towns where the main employment is provided by giant newsprint mills. They were able to see something of the area's agricultural potential in a drive to the RCAF operational base at Bagotville.

SNAPPING, GAZING

The royal couple appeared particularly happy in the cruise up the river. They spent hours snapping pictures and gazing at the photogenic countryside along the river, one of Quebec's major tourist attractions.

The Queen could be seen in a red slicker and bandanna pointing her camera at the massive walls of the Saguenay shoreline. She even followed an old tourist custom and gave orders for the Britannia's fog-horn to give a sharp blast so she could hear the weird series of echoes off the starkface.

NEW YORK (CP)—June Carroll, a Canadian writer, says in Look magazine Canadian newspapers suppress criticism of royal tours.

Canadian newspapers always treat the royal family "with respectful tenderness," says the former newspaper woman. She adds:

"Prince Philip behaved arrogantly throughout his solo tour in 1954 yet not one of the indignant reporters wrote a word about it."

CHICAGO (UPI)—The jam-packed schedule for Queen Elizabeth's one-day visit July 6 provides no time for a stop at the English Speaking Union, an omission the 1,200 ESU members said yesterday they find hard to understand, since the Queen is patron of the ESU and Prince Philip is Commonwealth president of the organization.

NEW YORK (CP)—Dave Garroway told his coast-to-coast television audience yesterday that what had happened to television personality Joyce Davidson over her criticism of the royal tour on her program was "a tragic thing."

'Happy' Red Dean Recaptures Youth

LONDON (UPI)—A news paper yesterday quoted the 85-year-old "Red Dean" of Canterbury as saying he received rejuvenation drugs in Communist Romania which made him feel several years younger.

The Daily Express said the dean, the Very Rev. Hewlett Johnson, underwent the treatments developed by a Bucharest woman physician, Dr. Anna Aslan, while returning home from a trip to Russia.

"I spent many happy hours in her hospital," the dean was quoted. "I entered upon a simple course of treatment which has had an extraordinarily happy effect."

The dean, who won a Stalin peace prize in 1951 and who frequently follows the Communist party line, said he was treated with "substance H3" and brought home a three-month supply for daily injections.

It had the effect "of restoring power I had lost and making me feel and act as if several years had been taken off my age," he said.

"It's an indefinite treatment," he was quoted. "If we decide to continue after three months we shall obtain fresh supplies from Dr. Aslan."

First System of Kind in North America

Winnipeg Subscribers Dial 999 for Individual Emergencies

WINNIPEG (CP)—Greater Winnipeg's triple digit emergency phone system—999—went into effect Sunday with a variety of individual emergency calls. The new system is the only one of its type in North America.

Chief Constable Robert Tait said Monday the emergency number proved to be a success. "There were some bugs, of course, administrative and technical ones which have to be corrected, but nothing of any serious nature," he said. The "999" system is also used in Britain and other European countries.

Calls during the first few hours comprised mainly domestic squabbles, children locked in bathrooms, and other "individual emergencies."

They relay urgent calls to police and fire departments in the city and 15 adjacent municipalities or dispatch a doctor or ambulance immediately to the scene of an accident.

Ten trunk lines have been prepared to handle incoming calls. In suburban police and fire departments, special red telephone sets receive the messages. Thirty-three such locals have been installed.

The switchboard women have a list of telephone numbers they can refer to a caller when they judge that no emergency exists.

Chief Tait said he anticipates no difficulty with languages. He has personnel who can speak Hungarian, Japanese, Yiddish, French, Ukrainian, Italian, and German, and other languages.

School Patrols Praised

Their Work Well Done

The boys and girls who serve in all winds and weathers to safeguard their schoolmates—members of the Kiwanis School Patrols—are now receiving awards for a year's work well done.

Twenty-seven of them at S. J. Willis Junior High School received awards yesterday, and six of the awards were for four or more years of service at the crosswalks.

Steven Boyd led the list with six years' service; then came Edward Williams and Herbie Stark with five, and David Paris, Don Leadbetter and Chris Allen with four.

There were seven gold pins for three years' service, five silver pins for two years' service.

ice, and nine bronze pins for one year's service.

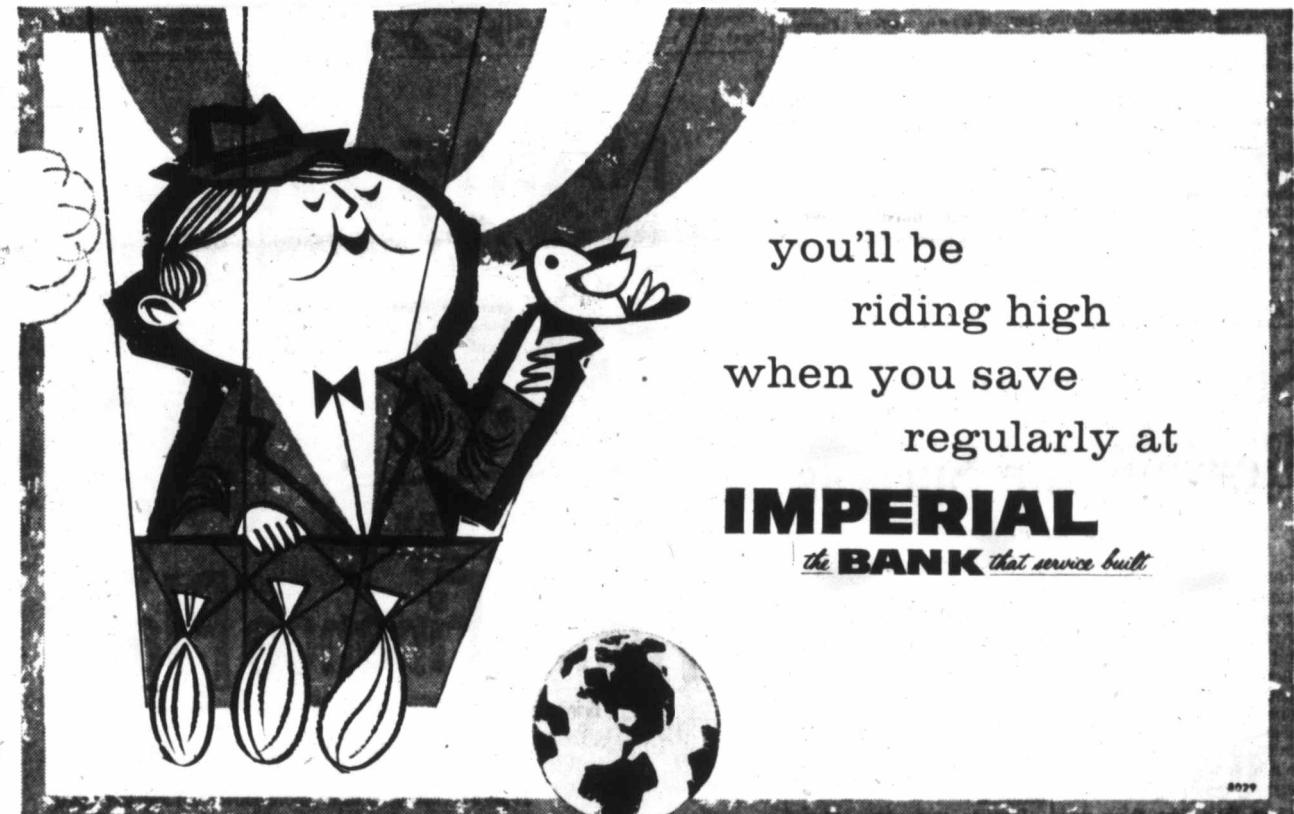

The school patrols were instituted at three Victoria schools by the Kiwanis Club in 1936. They have grown until 35 "Greatest" Victoria schools are served now, by more than 1,000 boys and girls chosen to control traffic, and their young friends, at crosswalks nearby.

Patrol members are chosen by the principal or teacher in charge at each school, with consent of parents, and are trained and supervised by a police officer in each municipality.

The Kiwanis Club provides the equipment, including caps, raincoats and belts, and looks after the whole operation through a committee with school board members, police representatives and provincial and city traffic engineers sitting in.

"With the professionals working with us, we get the best advice from those qualified in accident prevention," chairman O. E. Day said yesterday.

Announce Way To Help Drain All 8 Sinus Cavities Without Discomfort

New decongestant tablet for sinus congestion sufferers acts both to drain clogged sinus cavities and relieve distressing head pain

Toronto, Ont. (Special) Announcement has been made of a new tablet development which has the remarkable ability to help drain clogged sinus cavities and thus relieve congestion and pressure. The headaches, pressure pains, stuffed-up head, nasal drip, clogged breathing—all the unrelenting symptoms the sinus sufferer knows so well—are attacked directly by improving drainage of the sinus areas.

Most remarkable of all is the fact that this is accomplished quickly and without discomfort of any kind. This new tablet does its work internally, through the blood stream. It deposits into every drop of blood plasma a medication which is carried to the sinus area, where it shrinks the swollen doors to the sinus cavities and helps drain away the pain-causing pressure and congestion.

The shrinking substance in this new tablet has been so successful topically in promoting drainage of the sinus cavities that it is now prescribed more widely by doctors than any material for this purpose. This new medication is now available at drug counters without the need for a prescription under the name, Dristan Tablets. Dristan Tablets cost only $1.25 for a bottle of 24 tablets. Summer Breeds New York Crime

Teenage Thugs on Rampage

NEW YORK (UPI)—A feared summer outburst of teenaged violence on the sidewalks of New York set city and citizen groups to mapping stepped-up anti-delinquency campaigns yesterday.

Police, civic groups and church leaders were disturbed by the occurrence of serious crimes, including rape and murder, since the warm weather set in.

Here is the police indictment for last week alone against juvenile delinquents prowling the streets of New York.

Four negro boys were arrested for raping a 14-year-old white girl behind a junior high school.

A 14-year-old boy was held as the triggerman in the slaying of a 17-year-old youth in east Harlem. With him were arrested a tough-talking, gun-toting teenage girl and a 17-year-old butcher's helper. The three were members of a street gang called The Dragons.

Four Elizabeth, N.J., high school seniors "ditched" commencement rehearsal to visit New York's Greenwich Village, where they severely beat a night club doorman so they could steal his gold-braided hat. The 64-year-old victim suffered a fractured skull.

Police broke up a teen-gang fight as it was about to start in park. Thirty-five boys and two girls, members of gangs were armed with knives, scissors, gun shells, zip guns and belts when they were arrested.

The rising tide of June crime, accompanying the end of the school year, followed a general rise in major crime in New York City this year. In the first three months of 1959 alone, 3,266 juvenile delinquents were arrested—about 290 more than in the same period of last year.

Price Fix Hits Families

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A food wholesaler told House Investigators yesterday he was "positive" there was collusion among food chain stores in setting prices the housewife must pay for the family groceries. The charge was voiced by Jack Beatty, president of the Rocky Mountain Wholesale Co., Albuquerque, N.M., as a House small business subcommittee opened an investigation of the food industry.

Make Appeals to God Says Judge

Whites Get Life For Negro Rape

Four Florida Youths Get Maximum Terms

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — A southern judge Monday handed out life sentences to four white youths convicted of raping a Negro college girl. Sentencing came seven weeks after the crime.

Circuit Judge W. May Walker sternly told the four they had committed a horrible crime and were lucky to escape the electric chair. He recommended that they direct any appeal they might have to God.

SENTENCES HAILED

The sentences, maximum possible under jury recommendations of mercy, were hailed by a Tallahassee Negro leader as a step toward equal justice for his race.

A life sentence for rape in Florida customarily means serving at least 10 years in prison, although they would become eligible for parole after six months.

No white man ever has paid the death penalty in Florida, or any other state for rape of a Negro.

FAMILY DIVIDED

Only one of the four is considering an appeal. S. Gunter Toney, counsel for Willion (Ted) Collingsworth, said Collingsworth's family was divided over the matter of an appeal. The illiterate 23-year-old telephone company lineman, is the oldest of the four. He is married and has two small children. His wife, who was in the courtroom with their two-year-old son, wept when sentence was pronounced.

Canned Delicacy

Skewered Sparrows Protested

LONDON (UPI) — British bird watchers protested yesterday to the Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals that British specialty food shops were serving canned sparrows in at least two different flavors.

The canned sparrows in bright yellow cans are displayed alongside such other delicacies as chocolate-covered ants, caterpillar canapes and roast rattlesnake.

A spokesman at London's upper-crust Harrod's department store said the sparrows come in two flavors — barbecue sparrows from Japan and smoked sparrows from Hong Kong.

"Some people have expressed disapproval of our selling this skewered sparrow," the spokesman said. "But on the other hand others happen to like it. I have sent my tenth order to the suppliers."

Manchester RSPCA secretary John Green said his organization was powerless because the sparrows are killed and tinned abroad.

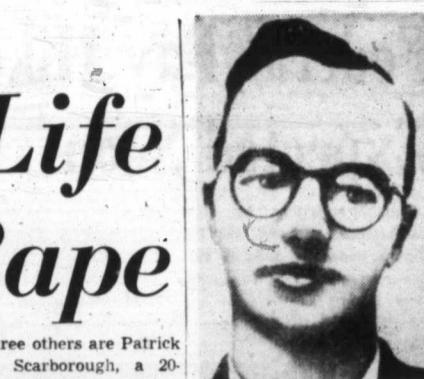

He expressed hope they were being killed in humane fashion.

Society Asks

Is Wrecking Of Market Legal?

A fight against destruction of Victoria's public market will be won or will go on as long as the building stands.

That fact was made clear yesterday by a determined group of members of the recently-formed Society for the Preservation of the Public Market.

City council is expected to decide Thursday to order a go-ahead with demolition of the building and construction of a parking lot.

But society members, planning their last-ditch fight, said they were considering legal action to avert destruction of the market.

"They didn't tear down the Johnson Street bridge when it was damaged," said artist Margaret Peterson. "They repaired it, and they should repair the market. If they tear it down, it will be a misappropriation of public funds."

John Peddle, a stallholder in the market for 40 years, said the building had been constructed through a $50,000 by-law put to the ratepayers of the city, and he questioned whether it could be "destroyed without similar approval by the people."

Miss Peterson maintained that if city council could spend more than $6,000 to have the building demolished, it could afford to restore it.

Federal Pay Hike Expected Soon

Recommendations by the Civil Service Commission for a pay boost to federal employees will be sent to parliament before the end of the month. Coun. G. K. Sammon said last night.

The Esquimalt councillor, who is president of the Department of Veterans' Affairs Employees' Association, has just returned from Ottawa where he met the commission.

He said if Parliament accepts the recommendations pay boosts can be expected in certain classes rather than an across-the-board increase.

Employees of government hospitals across Canada, who come under Mr. Sammon's leadership, might not be included in the present report, he said, because of a study now in progress.

'Hula' Hats—Light and Airy

Causing comments Saturday in Duncan with their weird "hula" headgear were Lisan, 4, and William, 6, children of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Smith, Youbou. The hats, made like collapsible Christmas bells and of stiff paper, are "light and airy" as well as good for keeping the hot summer sun off children's heads, said Mrs. Smith. The hats came from California last week, a gift of their grandmother. They are made by the makers of hoola-hoops.—(Colonist Photo by Charles Thompson.)

City Woman Victim Of Burns

Mrs. Jeannie Tyre, 77, of 3011 Quadra, who suffered burns over 70 per cent of her body June 13 in a home accident, died Sunday at St. Joseph's Hospital.

She was injured when her clothing caught fire from a pot holder which flamed up when she tried to move a kettle from her kitchen gas stove. There will be an informal inquiry into her death, Coroner Dr. E. G. Hart said yesterday.

Rev. A. J. Higgins will conduct funeral services for Mrs. Tyre Wednesday at 1 p.m. at Sands funeral home, with burial at Royal Oak.

Native of Aberdeen, and widow of Robert Tyre, Inverness, Scotland, Mrs. Tyre came to Victoria in 1919.

She is survived by a son, Robert, 2510 Blackwood; three daughters, Mrs. H. Nellie Hollroyd, 1021 Cook, Mrs. R. Jeannie Dunn, 3231 Wicklow, and Mrs. H. Maimie Hutchison, 3011 Quadra.

A sister lives in Ontario, another in South Africa. There are seven grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren.

The Courtney Street home of a 101-year-old bird-drinking parrot named Louis won't be touched by demolition work on neighboring properties to make way for a parking lot.

Miss Victoria Wilson, a bird-lover who died in 1949, provided in her will that Louis' house must not be altered or torn down as long as he lived. She also willed that Louis must be served a daily ration of his favorite brandy by his Chinese servant, Wah Wong.

It's a shame that four "dimwits" can cause officialdom to turn against a badly-needed minimum-security prison, John Grant, superintendent of the William Head "model" prison, said yesterday.

His comments, following the second break made by William Head inmates in just over a month, came on the heels of fresh criticism of an open prison so near to Victoria.

REVIEW SET

From New Westminster, B.C. Penitentiary warden F. C. B. Cummings said that a review will be certainly made of the William Head control situation and that the open prison will be made more secure, if possible.

Mr. Grant agreed that a wall across the neck of William Head peninsula, where the prison gate now stands, would help; but it must be done with the permission of the Quarantine Station.

"You can't know how badly I feel about the break," said Mr. Grant. "Here we have been setting a pattern for badly-needed institutions of this type. It is horrible to think that four dimwits could damage the fabric like this."

He said a wall may be necessary. "There's just the one road. We could have a floodlit wall across the peninsula and a fully-manned gate. No one would try to go into Juan de Fuca Strait."

PLEA FOR RETENTION

Mr. Grant didn't want to see the minimum-security prison done away with. He said: "When a person dies in hospital, you don't abandon the hospital."

Warden Cummings said, "There is certainly no thought of abandoning the open prison idea. It provides great benefits to men who have served time under close security, and it offers a major step in their rehabilitation."

JOHN GRANT
...deplores setback

At present, headquarters of both the prison and quarantine station are in the same building. Just outside, toward the gate, a fence marks division between the two properties. But prison guards' quarters and a recently-cleared baseball diamond for inmates are both located in the quarantine area. Nearby, quarantine station personnel live with their families.

Youngsters on Bicycles Pedestrian Nightmare

Sidewalk bike traffic in Esquimalt gets pretty hectic at times, municipal council learned last night.

Youngsters often ride three abreast on sidewalks, wrote Miss Patricia B. V. Patterson, 622 Head, leaving poor pedestrians faced with the unavoidable choice of "suspending themselves in mid-air, or climbing a tree if one is available, or simply sliding into a ditch."

Miss Patterson suggested that council pass regulations banning bikes on sidewalks, and added that there should be a $25 fine for litterbugs. She said: "This will ensure that litterers think 25 times before scattering litter around."

HOW YOUR LIVER BILE BREAKS DOWN FAT

Laboratory tests have now proved that liver bile emulsifies fat... actually breaks it down. It is an established medical fact that when liver bile is added to fatty solids, the fat is broken down and forms a smooth, easy-flowing mix.

In your body, precious liver bile helps break down fat the same way. Many foods reach the digestive tract as undigested fatty solids. Your golden liver bile helps break down this fat... unblocks it... for easier and more complete digestion.

Carter's Little Liver Pills exclusive formula of natural, vegetable ingredients relieves irregularity gently and effectively. At the same time, it actually improves the flow of liver bile needed to break down fat in your body.

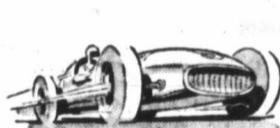

So when you feel sluggish, headache, nervous and need a laxative, get Carter's Little Liver Pills. Remember, Carter's not only relieves irregularity, but actually improves the flow of liver bile needed to break down fat.

Mantle's Bat Booms, Yanks Bounce Back

New York Yankees, knocked off twice just when it appeared that they might take the American League lead, started back again last night as Mickey Mantle took over to lead an 11-6 conquest of Kansas City Athletics.

Stopped on Sunday when the Yankees missed a chance to make it to the top by losing twice to Cleveland Indians,

Vic Power hitting homers to account for three runs. Power broke up the second game in the 14th inning, breaking a 4-4 tie with another home run. Result left the Indians out front by two games, dropped the Yankees, who could actually have taken the lead with a sweep, into fifth place, 3 1/2 games out.

Sunday's action also saw Chicago White Sox snap their slump and jump into second place by edging Boston Red Sox, 3-2. Helping them were Washington Senators, who handed Detroit Tigers a resounding double defeat, and Kansas City, who knocked off the Baltimore Orioles, 7-0, behind the three-hit pitching of Ned Garver.

There the San Francisco Giants again took up pursuit of the Milwaukee Braves, this time with renewed hope as rookie Eddie Fisher made a brilliant major league debut. Heglin Top Qualifier As Small Fish Score

Fifth qualifying week in the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association ladder derby ended Sunday night and it took only 50 ounces of salmon to win the right to take part in the August fish-off.

Lorne Heglin topped the ladder with a button-winning 20-pound 10-ounce fish, but W. Slocumb got the same result when he was able to catch on to the 40th qualifying rung with a three-pound two-ounce salmon.

Heglin, however, didn't win the weekly VSIAA Trophy and had to be satisfied with one of the three weekly crests. The trophy was won by Eng Que, who had previously qualified with a 23-pound 10-ounce salmon.

Dick Owen, also previously qualified, won the third crest with a 20-pounder.

Two City Women Clinch Berths on B.C. Team

VANCOUVER — Mrs. Shirley Fry Naysmith and Mrs. Joan Lawson of Victoria are among three golfers who are already assured of berths on the British Columbia team for the inter-provincial matches in August.

Both made it Monday in the qualifying round of the B.C. Ladies' Closed golf tournament, a round which counted in the six test rounds played to determine the three players who will join the B.C. champion on the inter-provincial team.

The Victorians led in the tests from the start and made it easily yesterday, Mrs. Naysmith shooting an 84 and Mrs. Lawson an 85.

Colleen Smith of Vancouver, is the third golfer certain of a team berth. Miss Smith shot an 85 yesterday, although not taking part in the B.C. championship, to make sure of qualifying.

If either Mrs. Lawson, or Mrs. Naysmith wins the B.C. title, the fourth member of the B.C. team will be Mrs. W. F. Knox of Vancouver, member of last year's team and defending B.C. champion. That would make Mrs. G. Garnett of Vancouver the alternate.

GRANDMOTHER WINS

Medalist honors in the B.C. championship were taken by Mrs. A. E. Tobin, a Vancouver grandmother who began her golf career only six years ago when her four children were old enough to look after themselves.

Mrs. Tobin started off with a fairish 43 but played a 38 coming in for an 81. It was just good enough to edge out Suzanne Foulds, 19-year-old Vancouver miss who retained her B.C. junior championship with her 82, and Mrs. Irene McCracken of Vancouver, who also came in with a 38 in getting her 82.

CITY QUALIFIER

Included in the 16 qualifiers was a third Victorian, Mrs. B. Thirlwell, who made the grade with a steady 44-44-88.

Another who missed qualifying was Mrs. Margaret Hutton-Potts of Vancouver, a member of the 1958 B.C. team. She shot an 89 but was eliminated in a three-way playoff for the 16th spot.

It went to Mrs. Peter Bentley of Vancouver on the first extra hole against Mrs. Hutton-Potts and Mrs. Jean Beardmore of Vancouver.

Jo-Ann Percy, the former Manitoba junior champion who was beaten by Miss Foulds for the B.C. junior title, shot an 89 but did not enter the ladies' championship.

Qualifiers:

Mrs. A. E. Tobin, Vancouver, 43-38

—81; Suzanne Foulds, Vancouver, 43-39—82; Mrs. Irene McCracken, Vancouver, 44-38—82.

Mrs. D. Naysmith, Victoria, 43-41—84; Ruth Wilson, Vancouver, 44-40—84; Mrs. Joan Lawson, Victoria, 44-41—85; Mrs. B. Evans, Vancouver, 43-44—86; Joyce Fairweather, Vancouver, 43-41—85.

Mrs. W. F. Knox, Vancouver, 43-44—87; Mrs. R. Patrick, Vancouver, 45-42—87.

Colleen Smith, Vancouver, 45-43—87.

Gaye Hitchens, Vancouver, 45-43—87.

Mrs. G. Garnett, Vancouver, 47-41—88.

Mrs. D. Thirlwell, Victoria, 44-44—88.

Mrs. K. Duff-Stuart, Vancouver, 43-45—88.

Mrs. D. Heritage, Vancouver, 46-42—88.

Mrs. Peter Bentley, Vancouver, 45-44—88.

On Sunday, Vancouver in the Hunting Cup team match. Mrs. Margaret Todd, who defeated Mrs. Tobin, and Mrs. Jackson, who downed Mrs. Hutton-Potts, got the only victories for the Victorians. Mrs. Thirlwell gained a tie with Mrs. J. Innes.

Other results follow:

Ruth Wilson, Vancouver, defeated Mrs. D. Naysmith, Victoria, C. Smith Vancouver, defeated Mrs. K. S. Lawson, Vancouver, 43-40—85.

Suzanne Foulds, Vancouver, defeated Mrs. G. E. Harris, Victoria, J. Piercy, Vancouver, defeated Mrs. J. McLean, Vancouver, 43-40—85.

R. Patrick, Vancouver, defeated Mrs. B. Evans, Victoria, Mrs. Bryce Evans, Vancouver, defeated Mrs. M. Kentle, Victoria, Mrs. E. Barber, Vancouver, defeated Mrs. H. McCrane, Vancouver, defeated Mrs. R. Payne, Victoria.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Bert Ticehurst, his putter working wonders for him, fired back-to-back 69s Monday for a six-under-par 138 to lead the qualifiers in the British Columbia men's amateur golf championship.

Ticehurst finished two strokes ahead of his nearest competitor, Jim Jeroski, of Vancouver Glen Oaks, as 120 golfers spent nearly 14 hours on the Shaughnessy Heights course whittling to 16 the number who enter today's first round of match play.

Inlet Entries Boost Contest By 100 a Week

Anglers may not like the depth at which they have to fish and there are times when they're unhappy with the concentrations of Japanese weed which appear, but entries in the Daily Colonist King Fisherman Contest during the past five years do prove that Saanich Inlet is a steady producer of salmon.

Since the start of this year's contest, on May 1, fish caught in Saanich Inlet have accounted for approximately two-thirds of the entries received in the spring salmon division. To date it amounts to almost 700 fish.

The percentage will, of course, go down as soon as holiday anglers reach Up-Island resorts in full force but the average of almost 100 salmon entries a week from Saanich Inlet speaks for itself. And it has to be remembered that with the contest minimum for salmon set at five pounds, this may be only about 50 per cent of the salmon catch in the Inlet, which gives up hundreds of jacksprings in the three-five pound class.

MPs in Uproar Over Land Deal

Pallett Denies He Sought Any Unjustified Spending

OTTAWA (UPI)—The Conservative government majority last night defeated a Liberal no confidence motion on the Pallett land expropriation case after the controversy boiled over into one of the noisiest name-calling outbursts of this year's session of parliament. The Conservatives crushed a Liberal amendment which called for an inquiry by a Commons committee into the part played by chief government whip John Pallett (PC-Peel) in the controversial Malton, Ont., land deal.

The vote was 138 to 35, with 56 CCPers voting with the Liberals. After the defeat of the amendment the House approved the main supply motion and went into committee on the motion.

Transport Minister George Hees wound up the debate in an angry uproar on both sides of the House of Commons. Earlier yesterday Pallett had categorically denied he had sought unjustified spending of public money in the expropriation of the land at Malton.

Affidavit Read

The uproar in the Commons began when Paul Hellyer (L-Trinity) read to the house an affidavit by a property owner in the Malton area which claimed that Transport Minister Hees had agreed on the evaluation of the land by an appraiser recommended by Pallett.

Pallett, one of the government's most able men, admitted yesterday he had suggested the appointment of evaluator J. E. S. Clare to look into the expropriation of the land.

Bitter Complaints

He commented on a statement he made in a recent exchequer court judgment that he had instructed Clare to set as generous evaluations as possible

JOHN PALLETT

... centre of controversy on the land in his riding. He said the owners of the land had complained bitterly of the treatment and previous evaluations of the land under the Liberal government.

Hees angrily denied that such an agreement as suggested by the affidavit had been made.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker's suggestion that Hellyer's document be tabled so that the Commons could study it was met with the cry by Liberals "don't be so particular, Dic-tator!"

OTTAWA (UPI)—It seems they have bleached blonde in the Soviet Union, too.

Mrs. Zinaida Lebedeva, one of five Soviet deputies completing a two-week Canadian visit, told a news conference that Russian women "dye their hair to their liking."

"Some women leave their hair natural, others dye theirs," Mrs. Lebedeva said.

Her hair? It was natural brown.

New Pact Will Widen Trade with Russia

OTTAWA (CP)—A new Canada-Russia trade treaty expected to be signed soon likely will provide for greater volume and variety of trade between the two countries, a Russian official said Monday, but it would not commit Russia to buy a fixed volume of Canadian wheat.

Mr. Kabanov, a former Canadian trade minister and one of five deputies of the Soviet parliament visiting Canada, told a press conference that Canadian and Russian negotiators are working on a pact under which the principle of mutuality will be observed. He said there has been no objection by Canada to this approach.

Mr. Kabanov said the previous agreement was characterized by "one-sidedness."

The Soviet Union was obligated to buy a specific amount of Canadian wheat while Canada "was under no obligation at all."

In the new agreement the principle of mutuality should be observed," he said.

Russia wanted increased trade with Canada in both directions. It was not profitable for Canada to sell Russia only wheat and for Russia to just buy wheat.

PANDORA AT QUADRA

MERLIN MOTORS LTD.

Never before has public interest in every aspect of the automotive business — including, of course, automobile sales — been so keen and so general.

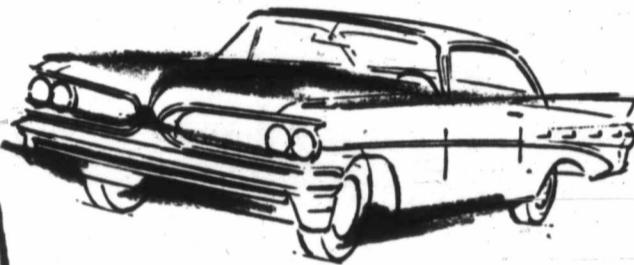

For that reason, we are glad of the opportunity to tell you about the cars and trucks we build and the respective positions they enjoy in the market-place. Naturally, we are most appreciative of your preference for our products — a preference which continues to grow — and, in doing so, endorses even more clearly our recent advertisement "That which deserves to lead — leads!"

We make Chevrolet.

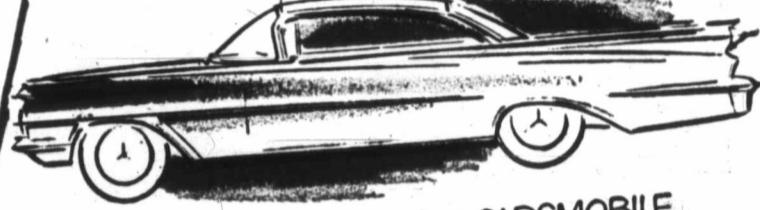

FIRST IN SALES year after year — and again in 1959. This is the true measure of public opinion, and it proves conclusively that "there's no value like CHEVROLET value."

We make Pontiac also.

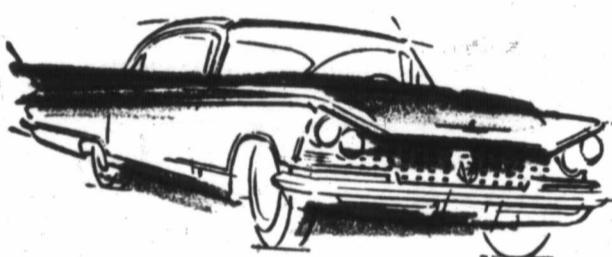

And PONTIAC's SECOND IN SALES. Its popularity is growing by leaps and bounds, as you can plainly see in every community across the land.

And here's Oldsmobile...

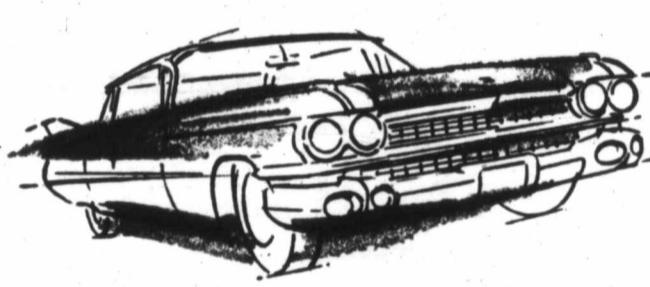

Another best-seller! In fact OLDSMOBILE is a "standout" in the medium price class. Why? Because there's nothing quite like "that new OLDS feeling."

Buick...we're proud to make it, too.

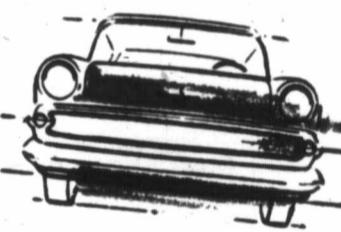

THE CAR which proves that better automobiles are being built and Buick is building them. Beauty? Performance? Riding qualities? Overall excellence? Buick is unbeatable!

Then there's Cadillac...The indisputable Standard of the World.

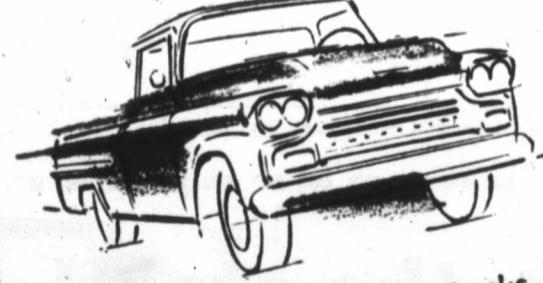

"World's best synonym for Quality." "Known for the company it keeps." "The decision that needs no explanation."

Now, let's introduce our pride and joy from Britain — the famous Vauxhall!

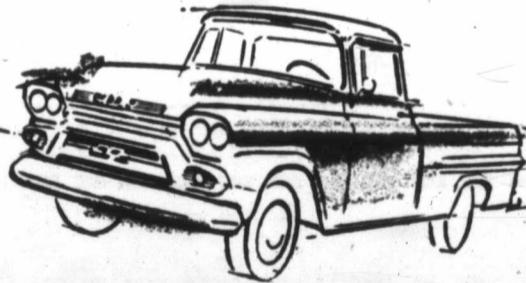

Here's the car that's breaking records every day. No question about it, VAUXHALL is the choice of the people who prefer a car of this class. We're sorry it hasn't been possible to meet the demand. We sincerely appreciate your patience!

And let's not forget trucks!

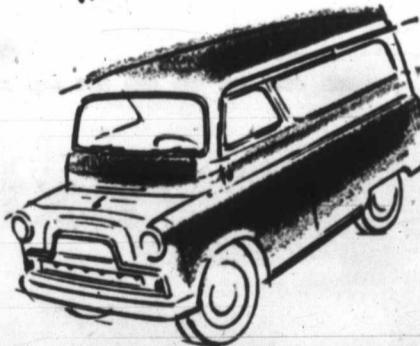

As you'd expect, Chevrolet trucks, TOO, are first in sales. Whatever the load, whatever the road, CHEVROLET does the job better, quicker and more economically.

GMC — from half tons to 45 tons

From frisky pickups to the big brutes. And, for your information, second place in sales is solidly clinched by GMC.

To complete the parade of trucks, we have the new British BEDFORD.

Tried and proven around the world and now fast becoming Canada's favorite, too!

What does all this mean? We like to think it reflects a special kind of confidence in General Motors and its vast dealer organization. It is recognition, as it were, of a philosophy which has been dedicated always to superior quality, craftsmanship and value.

Shark Scare Grows

Californians
Beached
By Menace

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Shark warnings chased thousands of swimmers onto the beaches over the weekend, and at least one city government began studying means of meeting the growing menace on the California coast.

Two men have been killed by sharks in the last two months, the most recent eight days ago off La Jolla, south of here. At San Diego, lifeguard Capt. Charles Hardy said sharks may also have been responsible for the disappearance of at least three other persons in the last three months.

2,000 FLEE

At Los Angeles' Venice Beach, lifeguards spotted a small blue shark off the beach Sunday and 2,000 swimmers fled the water. Attempts to harpoon the shark failed.

A coast guard air patrol spotted a 15-foot shark 400 yards off the crowded strand at Long Beach and more thousands fled. A harpoon attempt failed here, too.

ONE NETTED

One shark, a 285-pound killer white shark, was caught—in fishermen's nets off San Clemente on Saturday.

Major Charles Dall of San Diego, said he had instructed the city manager's office to begin a study immediately on means of protecting beaches from the shark menace, which is growing in apparently direct proportion to the warming of Pacific waters off the California coast.

Scurrah Deeply Impressed by Berlin

Bringing Plans Home to Victoria

'Mushroom' Design May Affect Auditorium

By R. O. MARRION

A "mushroom-shaped" auditorium in West Berlin may influence the design of Victoria's civic auditorium of the future.

Mayor Percy Scurrah, greatly impressed with the auditorium where world mayors ended a five-day conference yesterday, told The Daily Colonist by telephone he was bringing home the plans.

"The auditorium is the finest I've ever been in," he said.

"It has a beautiful hall, seating 1,268, with fine wide aisles and wide seats, and beautiful lighting — magnificent!"

With the conference itself, he wasn't so delighted.

He and the other 20 Canadian mayors delegated by the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities to attend were disappointed, he said, when discussion was confined strictly to two subjects: provisions for youth and for the aged.

Inevitably, Mayor Scurrah said, "there was a lot of repetition. We have seen a great many homes for the aged and kindergartens, and a great deal of the same thing has been said."

The mayor, speaking from his room in the Berlin Hilton, said there was a "tremendous contrast" between West and East Berlin, which he visited Sunday.

West Berlin had been "50 or 60 per cent rebuilt, I suppose, after about 70 per cent was destroyed in the war. There are still some great open spaces—there are ruins across from the hotel. But they have done a terrific amount of work, and they have got a new city."

In East Berlin, he said, "but they are a tough people here. Business and everything is quite normal."

Mayor and Mrs. Scurrah were to leave today for Cologne and Dusseldorf, and from there planned to go on to Paris Thursday. They are expected home in Victoria at the beginning of July.

Flames Exposed

Firemen Use Power Saw To Fight Saanich Fire

Saanich firemen ran a power saw down a kitchen wall to quickly expose burning wall boards in a home at 235 Battleford, about 7:30 last night.

Owners Mr. and Mrs. Alex Donald, were not at home during the $200 blaze which was reported by an alert neighbor who saw smoke spiraling from a corner of the building.

Flames were curling out through the kitchen window and over the roof when the fire truck arrived. Firemen rushed inside, chopped out the window, plugged their saw into an electrical outlet and started cutting.

Cause of the fire was not known, but there was no electrical wiring in that portion of the wall. None of the other walls or household furniture appeared to have been damaged by smoke.

Assistant chief Thomas Moss said that in another five or 10 minutes the whole house would have been on fire, had it not been for a resident on Crease Avenue, on the opposite side of the Trans-Canada Highway but overlooking Battleford, who called the department.

No Mystery Now — Man Identified

Boy Injured in Fall From 20-Foot Roof

A 13-year-old boy suffered a broken arm when he fell about 20 feet from the roof of a concession stand in Gorge Park, at 8:30 last night.

Robert Peden, 2845 Rockwell, was rushed to Royal Jubilee Hospital by Esquimalt police, where he was treated for shock. He was later reported in "satisfactory" condition.

Police said he was playing with another boy on top of the roof when he fell off.

Horse Throws Youth

A 16-year-old Saanich boy knocked unconscious in a fall from a horse yesterday afternoon, was rushed to Royal Jubilee Hospital by police ambulance.

The youth, Lyle Campbell, 4090 Gordon Head Road, had regained consciousness by the time he reached hospital, and was later reported in "satisfactory" condition.

Saanich police said the youth apparently fell while riding the horse along property at the rear of 4417 Tyndall Avenue. They said he did not remember the fall or what caused it.

Esquimalt Pays Up

Esquimalt council agreed to pay its share of $600 costs of enlarging the bandstand in Beacon Hill Park to accommodate massed bands for the royal visit—but not without some rumblings of discontent.

"The (armed) services make these commitments," said Coun. James Bryant, member of the royal visit committee, and the municipalities have no alternative but to pay up."

Council agreed this cost of about $50 would not be included in the original $150 limit placed on Esquimalt's contributions to preparations for the royal visit next month.

Royal Jubilee Hospital's "mystery" patient is a mystery only to himself . . . and that could end this morning, when a friend flies over from Vancouver to speak to him.

The mystery man is Robert George Stanley Jervis, 21, of 1716 Pendrell Street, Vancouver. He is employed by Trans-Canada Air Lines in the head office as a passenger agent.

CO-WORKER COMING

TCA is flying over one of his co-workers this morning, at company expense, to meet Mr. Jervis and talk with him. Hospital officials hope this will restore Jervis' memory.

The mystery about the man deepened over the weekend when city police asked Vancouver police to check an address Jervis had written in the guest register of a Victoria hotel.

Jervis had apparently transposed the numerals, writing his address as 1617 Pendrell. No such number exists.

UNABLE TO HELP

Wallace Courtney, manager of the Victoria TCA office, visited Jervis at Royal Jubilee Hospital yesterday but was unable to help him recall anything.

"It was quite a struggle to get him to say anything," Mr. Courtney said last night. "He said he was 'trying to think, trying to think,' you know."

"I mentioned several people he worked with, thinking it might help him get clear in his mind. He is certainly in a fog right now."

VALUED EMPLOYEE

Mr. Courtney said Jervis is a valued employee of the Vancouver office. He suggested that Jervis could be flown to Vancouver and admitted to Vancouver General Hospital or the Crease Clinic, where co-workers could visit him frequently.

Meanwhile, Victoria hospital authorities are going ahead with plans to treat Jervis for a week by tranquilizers, followed by electro-convulsive shock treatment.

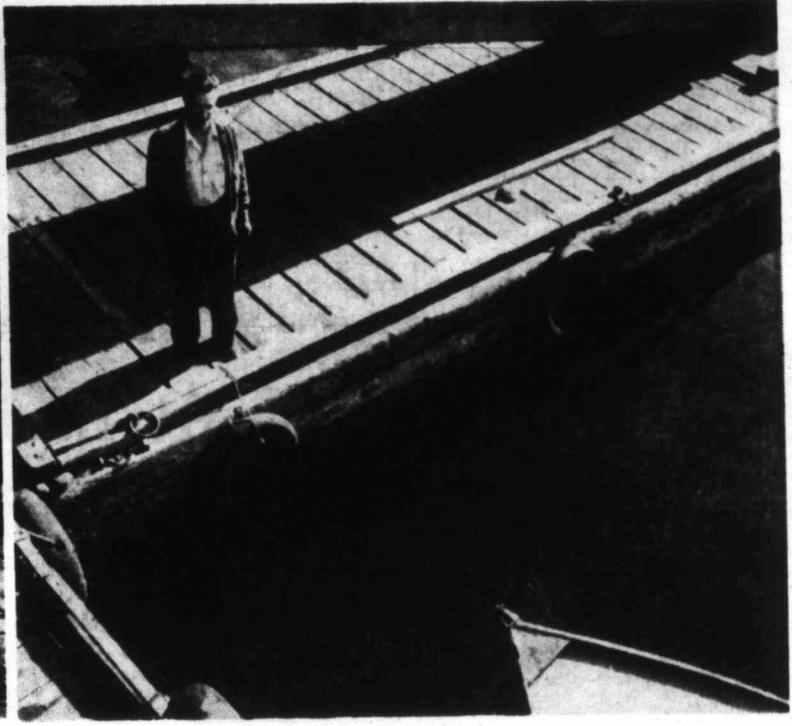

Cadets Go On Cruise To Mexico

The ships are due to reach Manzanillo Bay, Mexico, July 2 for a four-day stay. Next port of call is Balboa, July 13, for three days. They will stop over at San Diego from July 28 to Aug. 3, returning here Aug. 10.

The ships are the Sussexvale, Stettler, St. Therese, Beacon Hill and New Glasgow.

Another 23 midshipmen will get their summer training aboard destroyer escorts of the Second Canadian Escort Squadron based at Esquimalt.

Word of the men's disappearance was flashed immediately to RCMP and other law enforcement agencies both on Vancouver Island and the mainland.

Road blocks were set up at once, but it is believed the men were well on their way before it was learned they had gone.

Nothing further to indicate the flight was learned until discovery of the truck, which was the property of the department of health and welfare.

Keys to the truck were still in the William Head office, but starting the vehicle would have posed no problem to the four. Three were working on trucks—two as drivers and one as a swammer; one of these was a good mechanic.

The fourth, although doing different work at the prison, had some experience with cars.

Two Years for Assault

Charles Puff, 21, five feet, 11 inches, black hair, with a bandage on his neck, serving two years for assaulting a police officer.

Raymond Stoltz, 19, five feet, 10 inches, dark hair and complexion, serving 2 1/2 years for breaking, entering and theft.

All four slept in the same dormitory at the prison, a "satellite" of the penitentiary at New Westminster, where inmates are kept without walls and with a light guard.

Superintendent John Grant said yesterday the last count to include the four among William Head's 96 inmates was made between 12:30 and 1 a.m. Sunday.

Saturday evening was a recreation period, when the men were allowed to watch television or play cards until the last show ended at 12:30 a.m. The count was made as they went to their dormitories.

Next check was made Sunday at 6:45 a.m., when one of the guards notified keeper Joseph Romer, second-in-command at William Head, that he thought some prisoners were missing.

Padlocked Door Open

Word of the men's disappearance was flashed immediately to RCMP and other law enforcement agencies both on Vancouver Island and the mainland.

Road blocks were set up at once, but it is believed the men were well on their way before it was learned they had gone.

Nothing further to indicate the flight was learned until discovery of the truck, which was the property of the department of health and welfare.

Keeper Romer said he would have considered none of the four as likely to make a break from William Head.

He said at Esquimalt council meeting the juvenile home committee has "been hamstrung for years" by lack of authority.

"It is proving itself exactly as we presented it," he said.

"Next thing is they will start moving out by water."

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann: Eight years ago I fell in love with my boss. He was a young business executive, married and had three children. Amid a storm of scandal his wife gave him a divorce so we could be married. We were sure our love would transcend all obstacles. This is what happened:

We are flat broke because we must support Jane and her three children. They still live in the lovely home Bob built for them. She has help in the house and a car in the driveway. We live in a rented bungalow.

I planned to work a few years but became pregnant immediately and am now expecting our third child. The joys of parenthood are dimmed because I'm 36 and Bob is 46. For the next 10 years we'll be putting Jane's children through college.

Bob has been passed over for promotion several times. Wives are important in his business and they've never forgiven him. I'm horribly uncomfortable with his business associates and friends—those who didn't

Dear Smart Too Late: Thank you for a brutally frank and painful analysis. I know you wrote that letter with your heart and it should pack a wallop because it's a report by someone who's been there.

She Wears My Shirts

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a professional writer who charges 10 cents a word but I need advice so desperately. I'm willing to write this for free. I'm a father who wants to know how to get my 15-year-old to stop wearing my clothes. It's not my son, Ann, it's my daughter.

She wears my shirts bicycling, bowling, and over her swim-suit. My wool socks are shot. She pads around the house in them, without shoes. My wife bought me a leather-jacket for my birthday. When I looked for it Sunday, daughter had beaten me to it—(she went horse-back riding). My wife said "I didn't think you'd mind. It looked darling with her new britches."

Is it hopeless? Can you help?—POPSIE.

Dear Popsie: You're bucking the strongest of all unions—Amalgamated Mother and Daughter Combination. But it's not hopeless.

Sort out the slightly frayed shirts and faded sex. Present them to the scavenger with your love and kisses. Tell her these are hers and everything else belongs to you. Buy her a riding jacket for her birthday or Christmas, whichever comes first. Tell her of the forthcoming gift and make it clear it's subject to cancellation if she doesn't keep her lunch-hooks off your haberdashery. This should do it.

Dear Ann: I'm a normal, healthy youth with the usual amount of red blood coursing

Bride Wore Ivory Satin At Last Evening's Rite

Garden Party Will Assist Home Project

Beginning this month, the $750,000 Salvation Army senior citizens' housing project will rise on the well-known Matson estate site on Dunsماur Road.

Tomorrow, Victorians will have the chance to see, perhaps for the last time, this landmark once the property of the late J. S. (Sam) Matson, owner of the Colonist from 1906 until his death in 1931.

The occasion is a garden party sponsored by the Young married couples of the Citadel Corps, Salvation Army, on the grounds of the estate.

The house and 8 1/2 acres, bequeathed to the Army two years ago by Mrs. Ada T. Matson, will be demolished this summer to make room for the two-storey apartment-type housing project.

The party is the young people's contribution to a public campaign to be launched next May with a probable target of $200,000.

A honeymoon trip to Shawning Lake and Harrison Hot Springs followed the wedding of Miss Joan Marion Fisher and Dr. Charles A. Brumwell in Christ Church Cathedral last evening.

Dean Brian Whitlow officiated at the ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fisher, Bute Street, and the son of Mrs. Ola Brumwell, 2493 Lovatt Avenue, and the late Mr. Brumwell.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a formal gown of delustered ivory satin with fitted bodice. The "V" neck was accented with Swiss lace. A wreath of orange blossoms held her waist-length veil and she carried a white prayer book and roses shading from ivory to apricot.

Mr. Frank Gower was best man, and ushers were the groom's brothers, Donald and Richard.

Mr. Frank Crawford, Vancouver, proposed a toast at the reception in Holyrood House.

For a honeymoon trip the bride changed into a blue and green print frock with matching blue shoes and gloves with beige coat and hat.

Dr. and Mrs. Brumwell will reside in Vancouver.

Garden Notes

Avoid Sickening Feeling

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

The foliage of our tulips and daffodils is looking pretty seedy and woebegone these days as it grows limp and loses its green coloring and I am sure every gardener is impatient to see the last of it, so the beds can be tidied up.

Before the tops are finally removed, don't forget to mark the position of the bulb groupings with stakes or plant labels. It is so easy to forget where the bulbs are resting when there is no topgrowth and it is a sickening feeling, when digging over a bit of ground, to come up with an expensive bulb sliced neatly in half by the spade!

The narcissus fly is becoming a major pest hereabouts and is responsible for most of our grubby and rotted bulbs. The fly has an uncanny knack of finding the hole in the soil where the spent topgrowth was twisted off, so it is a good idea to scuffle over the soil surface with the Dutch hoe during the process of cleaning up the bed.

An even more effective way of deterring the fly is to work a little soil insecticide into the surface soil. This may be aldrin, bulb and soil dust, cutworm dust or ant and grub killer—these are the common or trade names for such insecticides as dieldrin, heptachlor, aldrin and chlordane.

The Regal lilies in my garden are now in full bloom and, as usual, I am filled with admiration for the sterling qualities of this plant. Not only is it quick and easy to grow from seeds, which are quite inexpensive, but the fragrance of their lovely flowers is out of this world. It needs no staking, for the strength of the stem is truly amazing, and it can stand up to the most violent wind-storm without batting an eyelash.

This ability to withstand wind is probably an inherited trait, for I am told that in its native Szechuan province in China the wind becomes so strong at certain seasons of the year that caravans cannot travel against it. I imagine Liliium Regale should be an ideal subject for the gale-swept sea-side garden.

Weeds in the lawn are springing up like crazy and this is an ideal time of the year to get in some licks with a 2, 4-D weedkiller, while their growth is lush and sappy. The pores of the leaves are more open and the poison is absorbed more readily than later in the year, when the foliage turns tough and leathery.

One very common error in applying weedkiller is to mix the solution a bit stronger than the proportions recommended on the package. The novice gardener reasons that if one tablespoonful of the concentrate per gallon of water will give a good kill, two tablespoonsful will do twice as good a job. Actually, it doesn't work out that way at all.

Not only is there some danger of damage to the lawn grass when a too strong solution is used, but the weedkilling job isn't as effective. An overly strong solution may kill the leaves too quickly, before they have a chance to pass the poison on down to the roots, and the net result is a brand new crop of weeds from the still active roots.

HOLLYWOOD (NANA) — Mystery: Why doesn't Bette Davis get a starring chance in pictures? She was always a great actress, and now that she has shed weight, Bette ought to be before the cameras again.

More on Peter Ustinov's active career. He has completed a novel, "The Unfeeling." The 80,000-to-90,000 words deal with the end of the war and the period just after its finish.

Brigitte Bardot is allergic to telephones and won't answer the ring, not even for her mother. When producers want Brigitte they must write or telegraph. Incidentally, she is refusing to pose for any more undraped stuff. She'll go dramatic, or bust.

James Garner says positively only one more year with "Maverick." "I believe in leaving 'em laughing." James told me in the studio where he is currently starring in "Cash McCall."

With her "Adventures in Paradise" TV segment in the can, Joan Blondell is off to London to star in a play. Joan has lost weight and wears tight Capri pants all during her "adventures."

Ray Milland, after scouting the sunset strip coffee-houses for beatniks for an upcoming segment of his "Markham" TV show, reported, "We did fine. We cast three guitarists, two intellectual girls who look like something out of Charles Addams, and several assorted beards."

For four years, Dick Powell has been asking Fred MacMurray to star in a segment of his "Zane Grey Theatre." "He's finally weakening," Dick believes.

Diana Lynn recently drove up to a television station, wouldn't listen when the guard tried to steer her away from a row of up-standing huge nails, punctured all four of her auto tires, then insisted that the TV company officials get her new ones. P.S.—They did.

Mamie Van Doren couldn't make the Berlin film festival this year. And, she's glad. "When I was at the Venice festival a year ago," Mamie told me, "I felt ill and had to go to the ladies' room. Five men photographers and two women reporters walked right into the room behind me. I burst into tears and threw a pillow at them. Next day, my photograph was in the papers crying, with the explanation that I had liver trouble."

Freddie March, now 61, is cutting down on the work and upping the time allotted to travel and pleasure. With their two children married, Fred and wife Florence Eldridge feel they have earned the right to relax.

Ricardo Montalban accepted a guest-star role in Revue's big TV series, "Riverboat." Ric is also talking with Blake ("Peter Gunn") Edwards about a new television series.

Sandy Howard, 31, handsome eligible bachelor-producer, is after another bachelor, big Don Kennedy, for the lead in the ABC series, "Confidential Investigator."

At their annual awards ceremony in September, the Boston sports writers will honor "Chuck" Connors. Before he became star of the successful TV series, "Rifleman," Connors played for the Boston Celtics of the National Basketball Association, as well as major-league baseball for the then Brooklyn Dodgers.

The principal purpose of the Stayman Convention—a response of two clubs to ask the non-trump bidder to show a four-card major—is to locate a four-card suit fit. But a valuable by-product is the unmistakable announcement of weakness which is clearly given to the two-heart or two-spade response. Thus, in today's deal, West had no right to count on any defensive contribution from East, and should simply have passed. South's three-spade bid: West couldn't resist the lure of the "free" double. (Because of the part score, three spades was enough for game.) This threw away an unnecessary 140 points, as well as making it clear to declarer exactly how the hand should be played.

After winning the heart king, on which East played the three-spot, West switched to the diamond five. North played the jack, and East the deuce. Declarer cashed the two high spades and played a third round, conceding to West's queen. From the bidding and dummy, West felt pretty certain that both East and South held three diamonds. So he promptly underlined the diamond ace again, in an attempt to kill the dummy.

North's queen won an another diamond was led. West took the ace and exited with the heart ace, but South simply sluffed the club seven, and West had to throw in the towel. A heart to dummy's queen would provide a parking place for South's club queen, while a club into dummy's ten ace would also enable South to take the rest.

Is 'Cop' Degrading? Experts Think So

NEW YORK (UPI) — J. Edgar Hoover appealed to a television panel Sunday to help eliminate the use of the word "cop."

Three of the four panelists agreed with the FBI chief that it was a degrading, or at least an impolite, word to describe a policeman.

The fourth, former Sen. William Benton of Connecticut, said he thought it was "a vigorous, strong and tough . . . good word."

Hoover wrote the program, The Last Word, that "cop" has the same unsavory connotation as "quack," in referring to a doctor, or "huck," to a journalist.

Dr. Bergen Evans, program moderator, said he considered "cop" an underworld word and never called a policeman that "even in thinking about them."

'Do They Have TV in Canada?'

Shoddiness Hallmark Of East German Farms

Same Old Jackboots But Not 'Militarism'

(This is the second in a series of dispatches on East Germany, by the only Canadian newspaperman to enter the Communist satellite.)

By GORDON DONALDSON

Special to the Colonist

The morning we arrived at the collective farm "Happy Future" a proud peasant was putting up the village's 14th TV aerial.

When we left in the evening he was still putting it up. Because there really wasn't much to put it up on—only a mouldering pile of patched-up masonry which represented an average collective farmer's home.

Schmiedeberg (a village of 350 population about 25 miles northeast of Berlin), was selected for me by the East German foreign ministry as a typical example of a new collective.

If it is a showpiece I hate to think what the rest are like. Much of it looks like a leftover from the Thirty Years' War. Or maybe the Hundred Years' War.

Jewel Among Fifties

On the other hand, Schmiedeberg possesses a jewel all its own. Come down among the decaying brickworks, swarming flies and stink of pigsties and meet Fritz Lindenbergs, one of the largest, roundest, most placidly cheerful of men.

Fritz is 40, a peasant like his father before him and generations before that. Apart from a spell with the German army in Norway, he has lived all his life in Schmiedeberg.

Fritz, of the broad red face and clear brown eyes, carries with him such an air of massive, unshakeable honesty that it comes as a shock to learn he is secretary of the local Communist Party.

From the age of nine Fritz worked in the fields with about 40 other employees of Colonel Hans von der Hagen, lord of Schmiedeberg's 800 hectares. We pushed open the rusty gates and entered the park of the colonel's former estate. Lush weeds sprouted on the ruined lawns, "around choked bushes and cracked pathways.

Not Allowed In

"We were never allowed in here in the old days," he reminisced. "Only the landlord's friends could use all this ground. The only workers who came in were his gardeners." The colonel's house, now scarred and decrepit, housed villagers and their families.

"We will all have television soon," said Fritz. "Do they have television in Canada?"

droop of an American. He was down to the last silver button, a German officer.

"Notice how nobody stood up to salute him," my companion pointed out. "An officer's manner was different under the old German militarism."

No Longer Exists

Like titles, militarism no longer exists in the DDR. This was impressed upon me in East Berlin. Granted, there are now 90,000 men in the East German army, navy and air force; 14,000 special police troops quite apart from the normal police force; 12,000 frontier police and 550,000 workers in part-time paramilitary "struggle groups" and sports clubs.

"They are going to build a reservoir and the water is supposed to come next year."

This month the village slogan was "We Support Our Collective Farm."

"Next month we put up a new one," said Fritz. "Maybe 'Fight the West German Militarists.' We must always have an aim in mind, and we don't always get enough chance to talk to the people."

Only One Party

There are 15 party members in Schmiedeberg, all SED (Communist) because no other party has been formed.

The collective system lays great stress on mechanization. But the older peasants, Fritz Lindenbergs admitted, still don't trust machines too deeply. The two electric milking machines I saw are still regarded as modern miracles.

There are only two cars in Schmiedeberg.

Everybody works at the "Happy Future." Frau Lindenbergs, mother of five and expecting a sixth, works on the farm and is also the local sheriff.

"She could stop work if she wanted," Fritz declared. "But why should she. Everybody works here. That is our life and we like it. You must come back in five years and see what we will have built here."

At the local state pub the band was playing "My Blue Heaven" when the duty officer strode in.

His steel helmet glistened and his jackboots shone. His field-grey uniform was impeccably tailored of fine material. He looked around to see that the People's Army was behaving itself. It was about 15 officers and men were jiggling to a jerky two-step or quietly watching the dance.

The duty officer marched out, followed by his men. He didn't have the chunky roll of a Russian or the nonchalant

Ross-Spencer Ranch

Cariboo Sale Sets Record

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Three Bar Ranch east of Merritt B.C., has been sold for $3,000,000, it was learned here Monday.

Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross and Col. Victor Spencer sold the ranch to Charles E. Woodward, head of Woodward's department store chain.

The sale was understood to be the largest of its kind in Canada's history.

The Douglas Lake Ranch, as it was widely known, has 14,000 head of cattle, 30 lakes and nearly 100 employees. It is the biggest ranch in the British Commonwealth, with 45,000 acres of deeded land and a grazing lease of 1,000,000 acres.

Mr. Ross and Col. Spencer bought the ranch in 1950 from the William Curtis Ward estate.

Mr. Ward's widow, Mrs. Ward, will speak to the Victoria branch of the English-Speaking Union at 8 p.m. Monday.

Her topic will be "Indonesia, Java and Surrounding Countries."

It was reported the pair turned down an extra $500,000 from a United States buyer, so the ownership would remain in B.C. hands.

ST. PETER PORT, Guernsey (UPI)—Six showgirls who wear only G-strings and coronets in their hotel floorshow act have been told to take the night off when Princess Margaret drops in for the Guernsey state ball tonight. "I think the committee handling the visit objects to the coronets," said floorshow boss Jack Wingrove.

Beating Suspected

Bachelor Found Dead

VANCOUVER (CP) — The body of a bachelor businessman, his head apparently split, was found in a fashionable west end apartment.

Police said Charles W. Chatten, about 55, had likely been beaten and suffered severe head injuries. Chatten's head was covered with a cloth when it was found Sunday night by a friend who induced a bellboy to open the suite.

Russia, Australia Resume Relations

LONDON (Reuters) — The Russian Supreme Soviet Monday appointed the first ambassador to Australia since 1954, when Russia broke off diplomatic relations as embassy official Vladimir Petrov was granted political asylum after disclosing details of a spy ring.

Police would give no further information, but homicide squad officers were investigating.

Members of the staff at the modern, 21-storey apartment motel said there was dried blood on the floor of the suite and a towel beside the body.

Residents reported hearing a party at the Chatten suite last week. Concern had been felt for Chatten after he failed to turn up all week at a small hearing-aid shop he operated.

Bellboy Ralph de Puyer, 24, who opened the apartment for the unidentified friend, said he turned on the hall light "and there was the body lying on the floor in front of us."

Tour Trouble

No Invitations For Oak Bay?

Rocket Fails

Another Vanguard Peters Out

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A weather-probing "sunshine satellite" apparently burned up the earth's atmosphere Monday when the second stage of the Vanguard launching vehicle failed to function properly.

About 45 of the licensed boats in the Escuminac area were at sea when the gale struck. Twenty-two of them disappeared in the storm. Four of these finally made port, battered and leaking. Police said the other 18 are derelict. Some lie wrecked on the shore. Others are sunken in shallow water.

Victoria aldermen are getting so many invitations to royal tour events they "don't know how they will attend them all," an Oak Bay councillor stated last night, but Oak Bay councillors have received none.

Coun. Allan Cox told Oak Bay council that Victoria aldermen and even some Esquimalt councillors have already received invitations to functions at which the Queen will be present.

Coun. Gordon Elworthy quipped "the only invitations we've received are invitations to pay more money."

He was referring to an earlier request that Oak Bay put up part of the cost of extending the Beacon Hill Park bandstand for royal tour events.

Reeve George Murdoch said he believed some invitations required officials to be in two places at once, but added he was not aware that invitations had gone out to Victoria city council members yet.

'Nice Young Men'—Not Dangerous

By DAVID A. GREENHORN
As Told to Charles Thompson

CHEMINUS—They were very quiet, nice young men. I'd fallen asleep on the couch and woke as they came to the door, about 2 a.m. "They sure didn't look dangerous to me. I'd driven to Victoria that morning for material and worked all day until 7 p.m. at Westholme. We had some fish and chips and then the women went to bed.

"I saw the late movie and then read the paper. I must have fallen asleep on the couch and must have left the lights on.

"The police showed me four pictures and I think I picked out the two who came to the door, but I can't be sure of one of them.

"I can positively identify one, the one who did the talking.

"He was thin jawed, about five foot, nine inches. Taller than me.

"He said, 'Do you know where . . . lives?'

"I showed him the light up the road, about three houses up on the other side of the street, the north side.

"No matter how this sounds, I've known . . . since he was a baby. I'm sure he's a good boy and didn't have anything to do with them.

"He was let out from there (William Head) and may have known these boys, but I don't believe for one minute he had anything to do with their getting out and coming here."

have stressed that Premier Khrushchev appears to be trying to frighten the West into a summit parley rather than the way for reasonable negotiations on Germany's future.

Herter and Eisenhower talked for an hour at the White House, one day after Herter's return from Geneva.

TV REPORT Herter also arranged to give the American people a television-radio report Tuesday night.

Aides said Herter would emphasize the West's determination to avoid further concessions to the Russians lest it jeopardize the freedom of the West Berliners.

To mobilize Congressional support for his attitude, Herter also agreed to give a confidential summary of the Geneva talks to the Senate foreign relations committee and the House of Representatives foreign affairs committee today.

REAFFIRMED Eisenhower and his foreign policy chief were understood to have reaffirmed during their talk that they would oppose any top-level summit parley unless the Soviet Union negotiates reasonably at Geneva when talks resume.

They have been suspended to July 13.

Russia Will Wage War With Poison Gas, Germs

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet Union can be expected to strike with poison gases and germs if war comes, the U.S. Congress was told yesterday.

Maj.-Gen. Marshall Stibbs, the army's chief chemical officer, said the Russians "are known to be intensively conducting research and development in chemical and biological warfare and . . . have a number of chemical agent production plants."

If IWA Quits Work

A woodworkers' strike would result in a loss of well over $1,000,000 a day in B.C., Labor Minister Lyle Wicks said yesterday. Everyone would feel the effects, he said, from the big buyer who places million-dollar contracts to the man who sells a necktie.

TOTAL COST IGNORED

"It is time that more people began considering their own interests as they are reflected by an upset in the entire economy of the province," said Mr. Wicks. "Too few people are prepared to reckon the total cost that their own actions may have."

The labor minister said it was too bad the 138 timber companies and the International Woodworkers of America could not get together.

HOW LOSS WORKS

The huge loss to the people of the province, he said, would be made up of direct payrolls, lost production, loss in revenue to the province and results of a paralyzing fear complex which a strike would engender in buyers and business generally.

Meanwhile, Joe Morris, regional president of the IWA, said the union's strike vote is running better than 85 per cent in favor of a strike.

PREDICTION WRONG

Last year a 90 per cent strike vote was predicted but the actual count showed only 65 per cent in favor.

The government-supervised strike vote will be taken Friday.

Mr. Morris said he would call the IWA policy committee together to decide on a plan of action as soon as the result of the vote is known.

RESULT FRIDAY

This would be when a strike date would be set if the union favors striking.

Unofficial result is expected to be known Friday night and the official government count is expected to be known Saturday.

Neither side is moving towards negotiation.

A majority conciliation board recommended seven cents an hour increase this year and five cents an hour next year on the basic rate of $1.72 an hour. The union asked for 34 cents an hour.

Some 26,600 woodworkers from the lower mainland, Fraser Valley to Hope, Vancouver Island and B.C. coast are involved with the timber companies.

Make Appeals to God Says Judge

Whites Get Life For Negro Rape

Four Florida Youths Get Maximum Terms

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — A southern judge Monday, handed out life sentences to four white youths convicted of raping a Negro college girl. Sentencing came seven weeks after the crime.

Circuit Judge W. May Walker sternly told the four they had committed a horrible crime and were lucky to escape the electric chair. He recommended that they direct any appeal they might have to God.

SENTENCES HAILED

The sentences, maximum possible under jury recommendations of mercy, were hailed by a Tallahassee Negro leader as a step toward equal justice for his race.

Skewered Sparrows Protested

LONDON (UPI) — British bird watchers protested yesterday to the Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals that British specialty food shops were serving canned sparrows in at least two different flavors.

The canned sparrows in bright yellow cans are displayed alongside such other delicacies as chocolate-covered ants, caterpillar canapes and roast rattlesnake.

A spokesman at London's upper-crust Harrod's department store said the sparrows come in two flavors—barbecued sparrows from Japan and smoked sparrows from Hong Kong.

"Some people have expressed disapproval of our selling this skewered sparrow," the spokesman said. "But on the other hand others happen to like it. I have sent a tenth order to the supplier."

Manchester RSPCA secretary John Green said his organization was powerless because the sparrows are killed and tinned abroad.

He expressed hope they were being killed in humane fashion.

The three others are Patrick (Gene) Scarborough, a 20-year-old air force man; David Ervin Beagles, 18-year-old high school senior, and Ollie Stoutamire, a 16-year-old former high school student.

The 19-year-old university girl testified that the youths, at the point of a shotgun and long switchblade knife, forced her from her car, drove her into a lonely wooded area and raped her seven times.

No white man ever has paid the death penalty in Florida or any other state for rape of a Negro.

FAMILY DIVIDED

Only one of the four is considering an appeal. S. Gunter Toney, counsel for Willion (Ted) Collinsworth, said Collinsworth's family was divided over the matter of an appeal. The illiterate 23-year-old telephone company lineman, is the oldest of the four. He is married and has two small children. His wife, who was in the courtroom with their two-year-old son, wept when sentence was pronounced.

Atomic spy Klaus Fuchs, 48, was spirited out of Wakefield Prison by British security agents yesterday and rushed to London for final formalities which will end his nine-year prison term and speed him behind the Iron Curtain to Leipzig, Germany, his father's home.

'Hula' Hats--Light and Airy

Causing comments Saturday in Duncan with their weird "hula" headgear were Lisan, 4, and William, 6, children of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Smith, Youbou. The hats, made like collapsible Christmas bells and of stiff paper, are "light and airy" as well as good for keeping the hot summer sun off children's heads, said Mrs. Smith. The hats came from California last week, a gift of their grandmother. They are made by the makers of hoola-hoops.—(Colonist Photo by Charles Thompson.)

Mantle's Bat Booms, Yanks Bounce Back

New York Yankees, knocked off twice just when it appeared that they might take the American League lead, started back again last night as Mickey Mantle took off to lead an 11-6 conquest of Kansas City Athletics.

Stopped on Sunday when the Yankees missed a chance to make it to the top by losing twice to Cleveland Indians,

Vic Power hitting homers to account for three runs. Power broke up the second game in the 14th inning, breaking a 4-4 tie with another home run.

Result left the Indians out front by two games, dropped the Yankees, who could actually have taken the lead with a sweep, into fifth place, 3½ games out.

Sunday's action also saw Chicago White Sox snap their slump and jump into second place by edging Boston Red Sox, 3-2. Helping them were Washington Senators, who had handed Detroit Tigers a resounding double defeat, and Kansas City, who knocked off the Baltimore Orioles, 7-0, behind the three-hit pitching of Ned Garver.

It was Newcombe's eighth win in 12 decisions and his seventh successive win, all of them complete games. And he continued his fine hitting, driving in four runs and scoring three as he connected for four singles.

Buzhardt, one of the Cubs' promising young pitchers, faced only 28 batters as he stopped the Phillies, 4-0, on one hit—a fourth-inning single by Carl Samski. Buzhardt walked one man but the cubs made one double play.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

All other action in yesterday's skimp schedule was in the National League.

There the San Francisco Giants again took up pursuit of the Milwaukee Braves this time with renewed hope as rookie Eddie Fisher made a brilliant major league debut.

Just up from Phoenix, Fisher limited Pittsburgh to three hits to gain credit for the 4-1 win over Pittsburgh Pirates although manager John Rigney thought it expedient to call in Alan Worthington for relief in the eighth inning.

PIRATES FOURTH

Defeat dropped the Pirates into fourth place, the Los Angeles Dodgers moving up with a 6-2 conquest of Philadelphia Phillies.

On Sunday, Hank Aaron served notice that the Braves may be a lot tougher from here on in. The Milwaukee star broke out of his slump to bat in six runs with three homers—his 17th, 18th and 19th of the season—as Milwaukee slaughtered the Giants, 13-3, in the rubber game of the three-game series.

Lorne Heglin topped the ladder with a button-winning 20-pound 10-ounce fish, but W. Slocombe got the same result when he was able to catch on to the 40th qualifying rung with a three-pound two-ounce salmon.

Water Ski Ballet Hit at Cowichan

First "ballet" on water skis was performed Sunday at the fourth Lake Cowichan Kiwanis motor boat regatta by Edith Neff and Tom Hives of the Victoria Aqua Ski Club. Blustery winds and choppy waters forced the cancellation of most of the boat races, but only a few of the stunts by water skiers. (Colonist photo by Charles Thompson.)

Area Wanted By Duncan For Waste

DUNCAN — City council is trying to lease at least 10 acres of land on the Cowichan Indian reserve for a "lagoon-style" waste disposal field.

Council disclosed yesterday that the land is owned by Eddy Elliott and is on the flats near Cowichan Bay.

Some members of the Indian band council and band residents will probably be taken to Port Alberni to be shown the system used there, said Mayor Jack Dobson.

Duncan Lists Streets

DUNCAN — A list of all city streets that need resurfacing is to be prepared by the city's engineering department, city council decided yesterday.

The move came after a suggestion was made by consulting engineer Russell Potter that a "future road program" be prepared.

Council also decided to let the work out to tender instead of waiting until North Cowichan is not using their equipment and using city crews.

Scurrah Deeply Impressed by Berlin

By R. O. MARRION

A "mushroom-shaped" auditorium in West Berlin may influence the design of Victoria's civic auditorium of the future.

Mayor Percy Scurrah, greatly impressed with the auditorium where world mayors ended a five-day conference yesterday, told The Daily Colonist by telephone he was bringing home the plans.

"The auditorium is the finest I've ever been in," he said. "It has a beautiful hall, seating 1,268, with fine wide aisles and wide seats, and beautiful lighting—magnificent!"

With the conference itself, he wasn't so delighted.

He and the other 20 Canadian mayors delegated by the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities to attend were disappointed, he said, when discussion was confined strictly to two subjects: provisions for youth and for the aged.

Invitably, Mayor Scurrah said, "there was a lot of repetition. We have seen a great many homes for the aged and kindergartens, and a great deal of the same thing has been said."

The mayor, speaking from his room in the Berlin Hilton, said, there was a "tremendous contrast" between West and East Berlin, which he visited Sunday.

West Berlin had been "50 or 60 per cent rebuilt, I suppose, after about 70 per cent was destroyed in the war. There are still some great open spaces—there are runs across from the hotel. But they have done a terrific amount of work, and they have got a new city."

"In East Berlin, he said, "they haven't done anything except build a few apartments. It's a ghost town."

Mayor Scurrah found West Berlin, focal point of a tense world situation, not at all alarmed or nervous.

"I would say they are cognizant of the situation," he said, "but they are a tough people here. Business and everything is quite normal."

Mayor and Mrs. Scurrah were to leave today for Cologne and Dusseldorf, and from there planned to go on to Paris Thursday. They are expected home in Victoria at the beginning of July.

Flames Exposed

Firemen Use Power Saw To Fight Saanich Fire

Saanich firemen ran a power saw down a kitchen wall to quickly expose burning wall boards in a home at 235 Battleford, about 7:30 last night.

Owners, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Donald, were not at home during the $200 blaze which was reported by an alert neighbor who saw smoke spiraling from a corner of the building.

Flames were curling out through the kitchen window and over the roof when the fire truck arrived. Firemen rushed inside, chopped out the window, plugged their saw into an electrical outlet and started cutting.

Cause of the fire was not known, but there was no electrical wiring in that portion of the wall. None of the other walls or household furniture appeared to have been damaged by smoke.

Assistant chief Thomas Moss said that in another five or 10 minutes the whole house would have been on fire, had it not been for a resident on Crease Avenue, on the opposite side of the Trans-Canada Highway but overlooking Battleford, who called the department.

No Mystery Now — Man Identified

Boy Injured in Fall From 20-Foot Roof

A 13-year-old boy suffered a broken arm when he fell about 20 feet from a roof of a concession stand at Gorge Park, at 8:30 last night.

Robert Peden, 2845 Rockwell, was rushed to Royal Jubilee Hospital by Esquimalt police, where he was treated for shock. He was later reported in "satisfactory" condition.

Police said he was playing with another boy on top of the roof when he fell off.

Horse Throws Youth

A 16-year-old Saanich boy knocked unconscious in a fall from a horse yesterday afternoon, was rushed to Royal Jubilee Hospital by police ambulance.

The youth, Lyle Campbell, 4090 Gordon Head Road, had regained consciousness by the time he reached hospital, and was later reported in "satisfactory" condition.

Saanich police said the youth apparently fell while riding the horse along property at the rear of 4417 Tyndall Avenue. They said he did not remember the fall or what caused it.

Esquimalt Pays Up

Esquimalt council agreed to pay its share of $600 costs of enlarging the bandstand in Beacon Hill Park to accommodate massed bands for the royal visit—but not without some rumblings of discontent.

"The (armed) services make these commitments," said Coun. James Bryant, member of the royal visit committee, "and the municipalities have no alternative but to pay up."

Council agreed this cost of about $50 would not be included in the original $150 limit placed on Esquimalt's contributions to preparations for the royal visit next month.

Father of a 12-year-old Victoria boy who nearly became the city's first drowning victim of the season at Beaver Lake Sunday was still seeking his son's rescuer late yesterday.

Toth said that his son was taken to safety by Pte. R. J. Heenan, a Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry soldier, Fred McCowan, 1980 Bourchier, father of the youngster, said:

"I'm going to phone him. I can't say how grateful I am."

Young Barry McCowan went to Beaver Lake Sunday with friends and tried to swim from the far side of the lake to a concession stand in the park.

About 40 feet short of his goal he became exhausted and was feebly struggling to stay afloat when he was spotted by Pte. Heenan.

"I went in after him and managed to pull him to shore. He didn't struggle, the soldier recounted yesterday.

Raymond said the 12-year-old victim of the near tragedy "deserves more credit than anybody for fighting off panic."

Meanwhile, Victoria hospital authorities are going ahead with plans to treat Jervis for a week with tranquilizers, followed by electro-convulsive shock treatment.

That's what saved him mostly. He didn't panic at all."

He said the lad was in about 14 feet of water when it appeared he could swim no further.

He was almost unconscious when taken ashore but responded to artificial respiration applied by two naval medical assistants, LS William Shirley, 25, of Victoria, and AB Howard Dusang, 21, of Winnipeg, both of HMCS Naden Hospital.

Saunders took young Barry to St. Joseph's Hospital where he was given a general check-up and sent home.

"Barry has been swimming about four years," his father said, yesterday, "but he isn't good enough to swim across the lake yet."

"This has been the best lesson he could have, and he won't try it again," said Mr. McCowan.

Cadets Go On Cruise To Mexico

Frigates of the Fourth Canadian Escort Squadron sailed from Esquimalt yesterday with 124 RCN officer cadets who will get sea training on the seven-week cruise.

The ships are due to reach Manzanillo Bay, Mexico, July 2 for a four-day stay. Next port of call is Balboa, July 13, for three days. They will stop over at San Diego from July 28 to Aug. 3, returning here Aug. 10.

The ships are the Sussexville, Stettler, St. Therese, Beacon Hill and New Glasgow.

Another 23 midshipmen will get their summer training aboard destroyer escorts of the Second Canadian Escort Squadron based at Esquimalt.

Royal Jubilee Hospital's "mystery" patient is a mystery only to himself, and that could end this morning, when a friend flies over from Vancouver to speak to him.

The mystery man is Robert George Stanley Jervis, 21, of 216 Pendrell Street, Vancouver. He is employed by Trans-Canada Air Lines in the head office as a passenger agent.

CO-WORKER COMING.

TCA is flying over this morning, at company expense, to meet Mr. Jervis and talk with him. Hospital officials hope this will restore Jervis' memory.

The mystery about the man deepened over the weekend when city police asked Vancouver police to check an address Jervis had written in the guest register of a Victoria hotel.

Jervis had apparently transposed the numerals, writing his address as 1617 Pendrell. No such number exists.

UNABLE TO HELP.

Wallace Courtney, manager of the Victoria TCA office, visited Jervis at Royal Jubilee Hospital yesterday but was unable to help him recall anything.

It was quite a struggle to get him to say anything," Mr. Courtney said last night. "He said he was trying to think, trying to think, you know."

"I mentioned several people he worked with, thinking it might help him get clear in his mind. He is certainly in a fog right now."

VALUED EMPLOYEE.

Mr. Courtney said Jervis is a valued employee of the Vancouver office. He suggested that Jervis could be flown to Vancouver and admitted to Vancouver General Hospital or the Crease Clinic, where coworkers could visit him frequently.

Meanwhile, Victoria hospital authorities are going ahead with plans to treat Jervis for a week with tranquilizers, followed by electro-convulsive shock treatment.

That's what saved him mostly. He didn't panic at all."

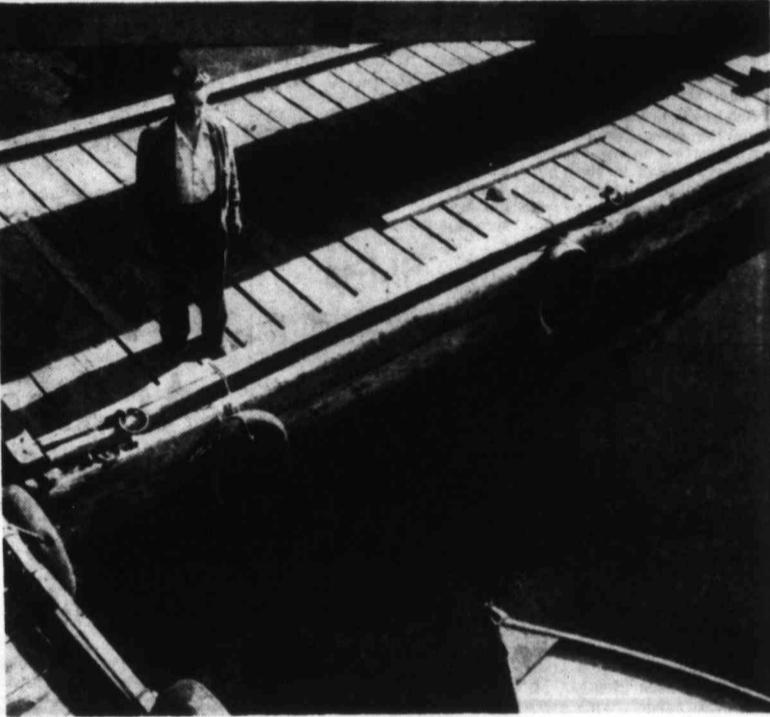

He said the lad was in about 14 feet of water when it appeared he could swim no further.

"This has been the best lesson he could have, and he won't try it again," said Mr. McCowan.

Water Taxi Stolen

Boats, Planes Scour Strait For Fugitives

Police were concentrating last night on a sea search for a stolen water taxi in which they believe four escaped convicts from William Head minimum security prison may have left Vancouver Island.

RCMP said this possibility was strengthened with the finding of a stolen government-owned pickup truck yesterday near Chemainus.

The truck was taken from a garage on Quarry Station property at William Head.

The 23-foot launch Pipit, capable of easily crossing Georgia Strait, was reported stolen from a Chemainus dock Sunday.

"We have police boats scouring the strait and air-sea rescue planes are also in the hunt," a police official said. "We feel the disappearance of the water taxi is definitely tied in with the escape and they may have hidden up on one of the Gulf Islands or made it to the mainland."

The escapees and their descriptions are:

Alvin Boehm, aged 23, six feet tall, blond, serving a three-year term for theft with violence.

Peter Schneider, 22, six feet tall, blond, serving four years for breaking, entering and theft.

'STRIKE WILL HURT US ALL'

Queen Dignified, Unruffled After Lengthy Reception

Alighting from the royal tour limousine yesterday in eastern Canada, Queen Elizabeth had good reason to nurse her right hand—she had just shaken hands with some 600 dignitaries. The ramrod-straight

35 Fishermen Dead, Missing

ESQUIMINAC, N.B. (CP)—Thirty-five fishermen Monday night were listed officially as dead or missing in the Northumberland Strait fishing fleet disaster.

As the search for bodies continued and reports trickled in from isolated coves and hamlets, the possibility remained that the final toll might be even higher.

RCMP said 11 bodies have been found. Two other men are listed as known dead on the basis of reports from survivors who saw them washed overboard from their tiny salmon fishing boats in a boiling sea early Saturday.

Twenty-two men are listed as missing and presumed drowned.

The Queen has asked that she be kept informed about the tragedy.

Lord Beaverbrook has announced that he will donate $5,000 to start a disaster fund.

The most devastating gale to hit the New Brunswick coast in years also wiped out about one-third of the Miramichi area salmon fleet, a heavy blow to the district's economy.

About 45 of the licensed boats in the Esquimine area were at sea when the gale struck. Twenty-two of them disappeared in the storm. Four of these finally made port, battered and leaking. Police said the other 18 are derelict. Some lie wrecked on the shore. Others are sunken in shallow water.

Convicts Grab Six Hostages

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP)—Convicts rioted at the federal prison system's medical centre in Springfield Monday night, grabbing six hostages and taking control of one wing of the hospital where Al Capone once was a prisoner.

They said they would present demands today.

Did IRA Start Fire To Protest Tour?

TORONTO (UPI)—The Metropolitan Toronto police department is investigating a report that the Irish Republican Army set fire to a reviewing stand under construction in front of the city hall where the Queen is to speak June 29.

An anonymous phone caller said the fire was an IRA protest against the Queen's visit.

No Invitations For Oak Bay?

Victoria aldermen are getting so many invitations to royal tour events they "don't know how they will attend them all," an Oak Bay councillor stated last night, but Oak Bay councillors have received none.

Coun. Allan Cox told Oak Bay council that Victoria aldermen and even some Esquimale councillors have already received invitations to functions at which the Queen will be present.

Porchlight Drive In City Tonight

Volunteer canvassers will call between 6:30 and 7:30 this evening at homes throughout the city on behalf of Victoria Senior Citizens Housing Society.

Target of $50,000 has been set for the porchlight drive and all proceeds will be used to complete a 26-unit apartment block for the aged on Styles Street and start construction of a second and similar project.

LABOR MINISTER WICKS . . . solemn warning

Wicks Warns B.C.

A woodworkers' strike would result in a loss of well over $1,000,000 a day in B.C., Labor Minister Lyle Wicks said yesterday.

Everyone would feel the effects, he said, from the big buyer who places million-dollar contracts to the man who sells a necktie.

"It is time that more people began considering their own interests as they are reflected by an upset in the entire economy of the province," said Mr. Wicks. "Too few people are prepared to reckon the total cost that their own actions may have."

The labor minister said it was too bad that 138 timber companies and the International Woodworkers of America could not get together.

HOW LOSS WORKS
The huge loss to the people of the province, he said, would be made up of direct payrolls, lost production, loss in revenue to the province and results of a paralyzing fear complex which a strike would engender in buyers and business generally.

Meanwhile, Joe Morris, regional president of the IWA, said the union's strike vote is running better than 85 per cent in favor of a strike.

PREDICTION WRONG
Last year a 90 per cent strike vote was predicted but the actual count showed only 65 per cent in favor.

The government-supervised strike vote will be taken Friday.

Mr. Morris said he would call the IWA policy committee together to decide on a plan of action as soon as the result of the vote is known.

RESULT FRIDAY
This would be when a strike date would be set if the union favors striking.

Official result is expected to be known Friday night and the official government count is expected to be known Saturday.

Neither side is moving towards negotiation.

A majority conciliation board recommended seven cents an hour increase this year and five cents an hour next year on the basic rate of $1.72 an hour. The union asked for 34 cents an hour.

Some 26,000 woodworkers from the lower mainland, Fraser Valley to Hope, Vancouver Island and B.C. coast are involved with the timber companies.
